Congress Studies Plan To Block Integration Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antibusing legislation, backed by President Nixon in an education speech Saturday, seemed headed for House passage this week.

Public financing of election campaigns was expected to share the congressional spotlight, with debate slated in the Senate.

The new effort to curb busing for school desegregation purposes will be made when the House starts voting on a federal aid to education bill.

The measure provides for a three-year, $18-million extension of aid to elementary and secondary schools, with the formula for distribution of the money in dispute.

The move to curb school busing drew backing from President Nixon Saturday in a radio broadcast.

Nixon termed the House bill "an important first step" in meeting his educational goals and urged citizen support for administration-backed programs to consolidate federal education grants.

"You understand better than any federal official what is best for your children," Nixon said.

The House has proposed consolidating seven grant programs into two, a move supported by the administration.

Nixon said parents value neighborhood schools and are "naturally concerned when the courts, acting on the basis of complicated plans drawn up by far-away officials in Washington, D.C., order children bused out of their neighborhoods."

The antibusing amendment, similar to a bill passed by the House in 1972 but killed in a Senate filibuster, makes busing a last resort to be used only after other desegregation measures have failed.

Nixon also called for Congress to provide $1.3 billion to finance basic education opportunity grants for schooling beyond high school.

The grant program would provide up to $1,400 a year to needy students. It was authorized in 1973 but never funded.

Senate debate will center on a sweeping campaign reform bill with provisions for using tax funds to finance presidential and congressional election races.

First, however, the Senate is expected to act on a bill authorizing a $2.7-billion, three-year extension of a cancer research program.

Final action also may be taken before the end of the week on a bill to increase the minimum wage in three steps from $1.60 an hour to $2.30.

Except for its public financing provisions, the campaign reform bill is substantially the same as one the Senate passed last July but on which the House has taken no action.

John J. Wilson, lawyer for former presidential chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, declined to comment on the decision not to appeal.

An appeals court had given them until 5 p.m. today to carry the matter to the Supreme Court when it acted Thursday upholding the decision to give the report to the House inquiry.

Haldeman and Strachan were among seven persons indicted March 1 in connection with the Watergate cover-up. President Nixon had not opposed delivery of the report to the House committee.

Deputy presidential Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren refused last week to say whether the President planned to comply with the prosecutor's subpoena. He said it was being handled routinely by White House lawyers.

A spokesman for Jaworski said the subpoena did not involve the Watergate cover-up or White House plumbers cases, in which indictments recently were returned.

That means the material sought probably relates to investigations of the ITT antitrust settlement, dairy industry political contributions or the 18.5-minute erasure found on one subpoenaed tape.

If the President refuses to comply with the subpoena, Jaworski could go to court to ask for an order directing

Kissinger Opens Talks With Red Party Chief

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today opened talks with Leonid I. Brezhnev, and the Communist party chief said he was optimistic about prospects for another Soviet-American agreement to limit nuclear arms.

Kissinger hoped during his three days of talks in the Kremlin to set the stage of a new nuclear weapons treaty President Nixon could sign on a visit to Moscow next summer.

Asked by newsmen if he expected to reach another arms agreement with Nixon then, Brezhnev replied: "I take an optimistic view of that. We have made a very good beginning on that process."

He said relations between the two superpowers "are good" but "there is much work to do at this time."

Asked to characterize the situation with regard to East-West detente, he said the European security conference in Geneva is "dragging its feet a little" because "the opponents of detente are introducing petty matters that have no bearing on detente."

Although he was speaking of the Geneva conference, it was assumed that he was referring to the Soviet government's problems with the U. S. Congress over trade and Jewish emigration as well as to the Western demand at the security conference for freer flow of peoples and ideas. The principal question the American secretary of state and the Soviet Communist party chief faced was how to work out a deal limiting development of missiles carrying multiple warheads (MIRV).

The groundwork was laid in early February when Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko visited Washington, and in talks with the Soviet Ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, who accompanied Kissinger from Washington and worked with him aboard the secretary's Air Force jet.

Dobrynin at one point in the flight beamingly assured reporters he had high hopes for a breakthrough. Senior American officials were more guarded, but they encouraged speculation that Kissinger's trip would be a success.

Both sides were going to try to make

"a conceptual breakthrough," said one of the officials.

For four weeks American and Soviet negotiators in Geneva have been clearing away technical underbrush. Differences between the State and Defense Departments on how to approach the Russians in this second round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) were resolved weeks ago, an official said. But Kissinger will submit whatever can be worked out here to the National Security Council after he returns to Washington at the end of the week.

His second major topic in Moscow is the Middle East.

Kissinger hopes to get the Russians to influence the Syrian government to accept a disengagement agreement with Israel providing for an initial Israeli withdrawal considerably short of Syria's long-range goal: return of all of the Golan Heights territory Israel captured during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

A Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement is necessary for resumption of the Arab-Israeli peace talks in Geneva, and there Syria and the other

Arab states could press their demands under the watchful eye of the Soviet Union, the co-chairman of the talks.

Kissinger is to meet in Washington Friday and Saturday with Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, who is to represent his government in the disengagement negotiations with the Syrians in Washington. The Syrian negotiating team arrives in Washington April 10.

Kissinger probably also brought to Moscow special pleadings for individual Jews who have been blocked from emigrating to Israel. But U.S. officials cautioned that he may not be able to accomplish much in terms of numbers. They pointed out that nearly 35,000 Jews were allowed to emigrate in 1973 and said that seems to be about as high as the Soviets are willing to go.

Other subjects to be discussed are the East-West talks in Vienna on a mutual reduction of military forces in Central Europe and the security conference in Geneva in which the Soviets are seeking Western recognition of their hegemony in Eastern Europe.

Youth Dies In Hit-Skip Accident

An eighth-grade McDowell Exchange Student was killed, while riding his bicycle, in a hit-skip accident on State Route 159 approximately 8:35 p.m. Saturday.

Dead In 1974

David Wayne Duffey, 15, Route 1, Kingston, died of massive head injuries, according to County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll. It is Pickaway County's fifth fatality for 1974.

The youth, found 10:58 a.m. Sunday, was visiting a friend Saturday evening when he left to go home around 8:30 p.m. According to a witness, who was travelling north on Route 159 saw the boy riding his bike south on Route 159, stating he had a headlight and reflectors which were visible for a distance.

The witness stated he passed only two vehicles travelling south on Route 159 at the time of the death.

Reported missing around 1 a.m. Sunday to the sheriff's department, friends and family began a search for the boy. Dick Huggins, a member of the organized search parties found the boy, along the road, partially covered by snow.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Hoover arrived first on the scene with Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson assisting with the investigation. The Bureau of Criminal Investigation was contacted to assist Sheriff Radcliff with the investigation.

Due to weather conditions, the bicycle has not been found.

Born Oct. 11, 1958 in Wheeling, W. Va., he was the son of Harry and Violet Bonem Duffey.

His father preceded him in death. Survivors include his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graves; two brothers, Roger Lee Duffey and Roy Gene Duffey, both of the home; grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Jane Travis, Bellaire; step-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Graves, Route 1, Kingston.

The funeral service will be 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston, with the Rev. Ralph Uth officiating.

Burial will be in the Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Kingston.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 6 p.m. Monday.

School Funds Shared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 614 city, exempted village and local school districts shared $42.2 million in March, state Auditor Joseph Ferguson reported today.

Urge End To Controls

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The president of Republic Steel Corp. called for an end to price controls on the steel industry today to permit steelmakers to meet the nation's needs.

Arkansas Democrat announced himself as an active presidential candidate. The payments are outlined in a report commissioned by the cooperative's board, which was obtained from court records.

According to officials of the Minneapolis computer-mail firm of Valentine, Sherman and Associates, the milk producers paid:

—$50,000 for a list of rural Iowans.

The Iowa Democratic party, which requested the list, paid $10,000. Sen. Hughes said he and state party officials didn't know the money was from company funds.

He said the cooperative offered to help pay for the list after he declined an offer of a contribution to his unannounced presidential campaign.

—$7,000 for a list for Abourezk, who was then running for the Senate seat he holds now. Abourezk paid $13,000. He said he hadn't been told the milk producers used corporate money, and would have refused it if he had known.

—$30,000 for a list requested by Gov. Docking of Kansas. The state party failed to pay its half, and the list wasn't completed. Docking's Press Secretary James C. Shaffer said Sunday night the governor would have no comment.

—$25,000 for a list sought by Gov. Hall of Oklahoma. This project also was abandoned after the state party failed to pay its share. Hall could not be reached immediately for comment.

—$25,000 for lists for Humphrey's 1972 presidential primary campaigns in Maryland and Florida. The Minnesota Democrat said through a spokesman he could shed no light on the payment. Humphrey referred newsmen to his former campaign manager, Minneapolis lawyer Jack Chestnut, who also said he didn't know about the $25,000.

Associated Milk Producers is the same group under investigation, with two other dairy cooperatives, for allegedly trying to pay $300,000 to a Nixon fund raiser to have an antitrust suit killed.

After the milk producers paid for all the lists, the Valentine, Sherman firm falsified correspondence and invoices covering the transactions. The firm says the forgery was the coop's idea, but the milk producers blame the computermail outfit.

Coop officials originally claimed they wanted to share costs of the lists so they could have access to them for possible future use in case they entered the insurance business, according to a report to the board by lawyer Edward L. Wright, a former American Bar Association president. This might have established a legitimate business purpose for the corporate payments.

But the coop never dealt in insurance and never used the computer lists, Wright reported.

The Wright report also says the cooperative paid the $750 monthly salary of Mrs. Betty Clement Bullock, who worked at the Mills headquarters in Little Rock, helped promote a Mills appearance at an Iowa farm rally, and later worked at the Mills headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Also paid by the milk producers was Joe P. Johnson, who was an advance man for Mills. His salary wasn't specified.

The report didn't estimate the total salaries paid for Mills' work. But it said the coop paid a total of $5,411 in rent on the Washington apartments for Johnson and Mrs. Bullock, for their leased furniture, and for a lump sum settlement to end the rental arrangement at the end of January 1972. Mills announced his active candidacy Feb. 11, 1972, after months of saying that he was merely available for a draft.

Nixon Subpoena Time Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the request of the White House, special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski today gave President Nixon four more days to respond to a subpoena demanding additional Watergate evidence.

The subpoena, issued March 15, called for a response today.

But, over the weekend James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, asked Jaworski for more time and the prosecutor extended the return date to Friday.

In a brief statement, Jaworski's office said, "In agreeing to the White House request, Mr. Jaworski emphasized the grand jury's need for the material covered under this subpoena."

The prosecutor's office refused to give details about the material subpoenaed.

And, in a related matter, lawyers for two former White House aides said they will not go to the Supreme Court to try to block transmission of the secret grand jury report on President Nixon's Watergate role to the House impeachment inquiry.

"We've just decided that we've stated our objections and our warnings as forcefully as we can and the government has decided to take the risk," said John Bray, who represents Gordon C. Strachan.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The recent upswing in short-term interest rates kept the stock market off balance today, nudging prices lower in quiet trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 6.10 at 872.03 and losers outstripped gainers by better than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts say rising interest rates represent generally a double blow to stock prices: They tend to inhibit economic growth, and they increase the attractiveness of fixed-income investments in comparison with stocks.

The American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .56 at 98.48.

The Amex volume leader was Sanitas Service, unchanged at 7/8, trading for the first time since last Wednesday. Late last week the company said it had a one-month extension on a loan agreement.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 51.74, down .29

Sugar Firm Sale Brings $110 Million

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The signing of purchase agreements for the sale of the Great Western Sugar Co. to the Great Western Producers Cooperative for $110.5 million has been announced by company officials.

The sale includes Northern Ohio Sugar Co., a subsidiary of Great Western Sugar with plants in Fremont and Findlay, Ohio.

The sale and financing agreement was announced in a joint statement by officials of the cooperative and the sugar company's parent firm, Great Western United.

The sale will affect about 700 sugar beet growers in northwest Ohio and southeast Michigan and about 6,000 growers in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas.

A joint statement by Robert R. Owen, president of the cooperative, and Robert G. Everett, president of GWU, said the purchase agreements "anticipate a sale not later than Oct. 1, 1974."

The sale has been pending for more than two years, but has been delayed by financing and legal problems, the officers said.

The statement said the sale involves $58.5 million dollars at the time of closing, based on the amount of stockholders' equity, and $52 million in first mortgage financing.

The cooperative on Saturday made a $500,000 down payment, the statement said. The sugar company agreed to pay any increase in its net worth above the $58.5 million to GWU before the sale closing.

The statement said GWU will receive an additional $15 million in cash, with the remainder of the $58 million in "subordinated capital debt." That will include $15 million in capital notes and $28 million in subordinated debentures.

Steel Pinch Now Likely To Continue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel customers' hopes for an easing of the tight steel supply situation are all but gone for the rest of 1974, Industry Week said today.

Raw steel production is being limited by a shortage of coking coal and the soaring price of steel-making scrap, the business weekly said.

The development has caused steel manufacturers to revise estimates that the industry would turn out 152 million tons of raw steel this year. Now steel makers hope they'll be able to match last year's record production of 150.4 million tons, the magazine reported.

Up to now, raw steel production has been running 300,000 tons ahead of last year's pace.

But Bethlehem Steel Corp. has announced it will lose one million tons of production at Lackawanna, N.Y., and Sparrows Point, Md., because of the metallurgical coal shortage.

Also, the walkout of 27,000 miners in West Virginia in recent weeks cost a two per cent drop in production over the week before, the magazine said.

Photographs Of Mercury Still Small

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10 scientists are waiting for images of Mercury to grow larger in pictures sent back to earth by the space probe which is hurtling ever closer to the tiny planet.

Another 36 photographs were clicked off by the spacecraft's powerful television cameras Sunday and relayed to the control center at Jet Propulsion Laboratories here.

However, the photographic images were still too small to answer any questions about the nature of this innermost planet of the solar system. Mercury has remained a mystery because it is obscured by the sun and thus difficult to observe from earth.

A JPL spokesman said investigators had been looking at markings, in particular a bright spot, which appeared in the photos and seemed to be associated with features on the surface of the tiny planet.

But he added that none of the scientists was willing to speculate what the markings indicated.

Another 36 photos were to be transmitted by Mariner today as it hurtled to within 2.2 million miles of Mercury. It is scheduled to skim past the planet Friday less than 600 miles above the surface, giving man his first close-up look.

Last month Mariner made a fly-by of Venus and took more than 3,500 pictures of the cloudcovered planet.

The pre-school story hour will be held in the library at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Mothers of pre-schoolers attending the story hour may attend a demonstration presented by Mrs. Robert Hutzelman on how to make an Easter egg tree.

Those planning to attend the demonstration should bring a raw egg, paper and pencil. Everyone is welcome.

Pleasant View YF Plans Program

The Pleasant View United Methodist Youth Fellowship met Tuesday with devotions by Marilyn O'Hare.

Twelve members were present for discussion concerning Easter programs. An Easter party is planned April 2 with the first program scheduled for 7:30 p.m. April 10 at Crites Rest Home.

Refreshments will be provided by Tami Martin and Paula Moore.

The meeting was concluded by playing two Bible games and refreshments.

Trailer Falls From Train

A freak accident occurred at the Norfolk and Western Railroad S. Scioto St. crossing 3:40 p.m. Saturday when a trailer, loaded with toys, rolled from a flatbed-car on a westbound train.

The trailer broke loose about 200 feet east of the crossing and dropped to the ground on its rightside.

It struck the south railroad flasher, breaking it. The trailer then skidded into a utility pole, breaking it off, and slid into a signal case, breaking the cement base.

Former Herald Publisher, Arthur Hoopingarner, Dies

Funeral service was held today for Mr. Arthur A. Hoopingarner, 80, Dover, a former publisher of the Circleville Herald.

Mr. Hoopingarner was publisher of The Circleville Daily Herald from 1927 until 1936 when it was purchased by the Galvin interests.

He began his newspaper career as a printer's devil at the Dover Reporter at the age of 10 in 1903. His first job as a reporter was on the Dover paper six years later.

From there he went on to hold a variety of reporting and editorial positions with the old Canton Morning News, Chicago Tribune, Cleveland Press, Columbus Monitor and Omaha Daily News before returning to Ohio and buying the Dover Reporter in 1921. He became publisher of the paper which he renamed the Dover Daily Reporter.

He was also publisher of a chain of nine Cuyahoga County weeklies and the former weekly finance publication, Finance and Industry.

He also served as editor and general manager from 1926 to 1940 of the American Press, a newsmen's trade journal, as board member of the Inland Press Assn. and Ohio Newspaper Assn. and as director of the Dover National Bank. For a number of years he sponsored a special Hoopingarner Award for Ohio Associated Press members for brief humorous stories.

As a Republican stalwart, Hoopingarner was named director of the state Highway Department of public relations division in 1943 and served as publicity chief of former Gov. John W. Bricker's unsuccessful bid for the GOP presidential nomination in 1944.

Most recently he was assistant auditor in charge of personnel for former State Auditor Roger W. Tracy in the mid-1960s.

Hoopingarner is survived by his widow, Viola, of Dover.

Police Probe Attempted Theft

An attempted breaking and entering at a downtown store and a case of vandalism are being investigated by city police.

Three small windows on the north side of Christopher's Don Boutique, 119 S. Court St., were broken over the weekend but entry was not gained to the building.

Dear Friends,
A properly run ambulance service is a great responsibility. The improper and haphazard moving and transportation of an injured patient can cause further injury and even death. That is why our trained attendants evaluate the patient's obvious injuries before moving him, in order to render necessary first aid and provide the correct method of transportation to the hospital.

Aborigines A Puzzle

Over the years the aborigines of Australia have often been the butt of jokes. Now they are the objects of scientific investigation. It seems they possess some physical characteristics the rest of the world would like to have, but no one knows exactly what they are.

What started it all was the discovery that aborigines are able to sleep in the open in freezing temperatures almost naked and not mind it in the least. Science still hasn't figured out why the aborigine has greater resistance to cold, but it has discovered a number of other interesting facts about him.

Researchers from many parts of the world have been going to the Australian wilds in increasing numbers to study such things as why the aborigine stands on one foot while resting.

To date, scientists who have come to the aborigine's home from the United States, Norway, France, Germany and the civilized parts of Australia have not uncovered his secret for a healthy life. They all acknowledge his difference, but why and how have not been satisfactorily answered.

Support For Nixon?

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There must have been tears of gratitude in President Nixon's eyes when he heard of that great tribute to him from his friend, Sen. James L. Buckley, the New York Conservative-Republican. Visions of a marbled Nixon monument, hard by those that perpetuate the memories of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln in the nation's capital, must have swum in his fertile history-conscious imagination.

Buckley asked the President to get lost. Go. Scram. Ausgang. Git.

But in the most remarkable terms: "I propose an extraordinary act of statesmanship and courage — an act at once noble and heartbreaking; at once serving the greater interests of the nation, the institution of the Presidency and the stated goals for which he so successfully campaigned."

Buckley also spoke of what a "free, positive and magnanimous act" it would be for the President to chuck his $250,000 a year job, all those nice receptions, the White House air force and limousines, free rent, gas, heat, electricity and Christmas tree.

The President should say something equally moving about Sen. Buckley. Such as, "After you, Jim..."

I will put up my Edsel for sale, rather than yield to the federal government's probable ruling that cars must be equipped with an air bag. As of now, the ruling is confined to all cars, on and after September 1, 1976, but you know how the feds are. They'll insist that everything that rolls during the glorious Bicentennial — including steam rollers — must have the bags.

The only time I ever rode in a car wherein a bag was installed, somewhere invisibly under that part of the dash which confronted me, I was scared stiff. Every time we hit a bump, I expected that great bag of gas to burst forward and engulf me in its folds — like a nightmare about fighting a 200-ton octopus. The bag would have only hit me, the person riding shotgun — in the seat beside the driver — it would not have protected the fellow driving the infernal combustion machine. And don't forget about the old lady, giving directions from the back seat. How would she be protected — by an ejection seat? (Wouldn't be a bad idea, at times.) And how many spontaneous inflammations would take place each minute on the 6,000 miles of ruts in New York City alone?

Bag Humbug!

Watergate is farthest from the minds of one group of officials in Washington these days. The sole concern among these public servants is whether love will bloom this spring between Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing, the pair of pandas Chou En-lai sent to the National Zoo in the wake of President Nixon's trip to China in 1972. According to the UPI, 6,000,000 people visited their zoological home last year, and presumably are just as eager to see the pandas multiply. No panda pup has ever been born in captivity.

Nobody in panda court circles seems more fascinated by the potential mating than Mrs. Billie Hamlet, public relations director of the zoo. Mrs. Hamlet told UPI's Dan Riker, "It looks very good. Both animals are very healthy. There's been a great deal of interaction between them... the two like each other but we're going to put them this time (there was mismatch last fall) in an outdoor yard where there will be a place for either to get away if it sometimes gets rough... But we don't think anything more will happen than a lovers' spat."

Dear Editor:

In regard to the proposed annexation of approximately 133 acres to the village of Ashville, I wish to stand opposed to the annexation.

For the last ten years the village has been able to control and manage the community through council, so we are now 20 years behind current times. The village cannot or does not do anything to clean or clear the present streets of snow and ice in the winter.

We have had three developments in the last five years. They have either not been finished or have created water problems or are eye sores in the community.

We had no water problems in the north end until the village brought in a development with no plans or control as to the building. It cut off water drainage to the south, so for the last two years the north end has been a holding pond for surface water.

From approximately the Fleet Wing Service Station north the village has no sanitary or storm sewer. If these were tied in, the sewage plant would be working at approximately 75 per cent of its capacity. So with 176 homes and a shopping center and five apartment buildings this would mean another sewage plant in five years. We are still paying for the present one.

We feel the village cannot take care of what it has without adding more to the town.

Dear Editor:

This is a letter for registration. Do yourself a favor. Register to vote at a time when the national economy is taking a nose-dive... at a time when oil companies are "ripping off" virtually every American citizen, directly or indirectly... at a time when millions of school children have been victimized by Nixon's vetoes of education bills... at a time when certain Congressmen thumb their noses at the unemployed and underemployed by upholding Nixon's vetoes of manpower and accelerated wedding.

Taxpayers are being quite difficult about instructing the Internal Revenue Service to place one dollar of their paid tax (two bucks in join returns) into a special fund to cover the costs of the next Presidential election campaign. The Dollar Checkoff Committee, composed of bi-partisan members of Congress, has announced that only about 14 per cent of the taxpayers have given a damn about the effort to make Presidential elections honest.

That's very naughty on the part of the taxpayers. If they remain that stubborn in the future, where's a poor President going to find an Ambassador?

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP) — Police specialist William Cales expected an enjoyable day Friday.

But an assignment to pick up some neon light bulbs couldn't have turned out worse.

As he approached a stop at a red light in town, the bulbs went flying off the seat. He tried to stop them from breaking, but instead he didn't brake in time.

He hit the car ahead of him, authorities say. So, what does a police officer at the scene of an accident do? He cites himself for "failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead."

Of course, it all happened in the newest of the department's fleet, a 1974 cruiser with 2,500 miles on the odometer. And, on his birthday.

Bishop Retires After Conviction

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Roman Catholic Bishop Robert E. Tracy has retired as head of the Diocese of Baton Rouge a week after being fined on drunk driving charges.

Bishop Tracy, 64, was not present Thursday at the announcement of his retirement. Church officials refused to say whether the bishop's recent arrest and fine of $150 had anything to do with his departure.

Bishop Tracy was arrested by state police Feb. 20 and booked on charges of resisting arrest and driving while intoxicated. He refused to take a breath test — which could cost him his driver's license.

Scali Backs Nixon On Mid East Alert

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — John Scali, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, says President Nixon acted wisely when he ordered a military alert at the outbreak of last year's Mideast War.

"As one who sat near the hot seat, I can assure you that in my view, if he (Nixon) had not ordered that high readiness, it would have been irresponsible in a moment of crisis," Scali said.

Scali spoke at Malone College Friday.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

There is a history of cystic fibrosis in our family. There were two cases in 20 years in a rather large family.

I am contemplating marriage and I am concerned about frightening my fiancée. We look forward to having children.

Mr. G.N., Ind.

Dear Mr. N.:

It is true that cystic fibrosis has a hereditary tendency. It must be emphasized, however, that the gene that carries the lung-damaging disease of cystic fibrosis must exist in both parents rather than in just one.

When only one parent has the recessive gene of cystic fibrosis none of the children will have the disease. Yet these children, free of the disease, may be carriers of the tendency.

For this reason it is most important for families with a history of cystic fibrosis to have this included very explicitly in all their medical records.

Prior to 20 years ago, a child born with cystic fibrosis had little or no chance of surviving past childhood. Due to expanded research, tests for earlier diagnosis, intensive treatment with antibiotics, and inhalation treatments now hold promise that these patients will survive, and even flourish into adulthood.

Silver Screen

By JIM BISHOP

Motion pictures are getting better and worse. It's an art form in transition. The big, imposing studios I knew so well in Hollywood — Metro, Fox, Paramount, Columbia — have decayed with the big men who made them. The star system, a device for foisting poor work on the public through the use of big names in the cast, is comatose.

Death and rust claimed most of them. We are left with John Wayne, whose pigeon-toes walk, saddlebag face and nasal utterances seem like someone doing a second-rate impersonation of John Wayne. Some, like Doris Day, wear high turtlenecks to do dog food commercials. Gable, Gilbert, Monroe, Tolson, Bogart, Harlow, Tyrone Power, Spencer Tracy, Ronald Colman have walked into their last sunset.

Most of them are resurrected after 11 p.m. on television, to be returned to the sepulcher of film cans by 1 a.m. When the current convulsion of sex and violence subsides, the age of the director will emerge.

Producers seldom make pictures. They manage bankrolls and settle disputes. A triad of director, writer and cinematographer assumes the day-to-day responsibility for making a great motion picture of a whimpering apology.

The current fetish for sex and violence is the fault of the public. They bought it because they yearned to be shocked. At first, only the very young paid to see these pictures in the passion pits at the drive-ins. Now their grandparents pay $3 a head to hear four-letter words they had forgotten, and to see attractive young couples go to bed for any reason except to sleep.

The problem with selling flesh is that, like heroin addiction, last year's dose is no longer sufficient. It must always be more explicit, more brutally candid. Next year they may be making love hanging from King Kong's nether parts.

I liked "Serpico," the story of an honest, hippie cop fighting crooks in a police department. It may be the only movie ever made with two words of dialogue. You could peel the script off a men's room wall.

Count me as one who loved "A Touch of Class." Kelly and I saw it three times and we laughed so hard that, in the dark, people glared at us. It is a sexy picture, but a funny and very human document.

"The Sting" excites my envy. It's the picture I wish I had written. Paul

Can a doctor or a pharmacist recognize all pills by their color and shape?

Miss L.R., N.C.

Dear Miss R.:

Thousands of different kinds of pills and capsules are manufactured by dozens of manufacturers. It is, therefore, virtually impossible for anyone to definitely identify every pill on sight.

Some of the more widely used ones are identifiable by distinct color or shape, but this is not a reliable method when an urgent need arises to recognize a particular drug.

Manufacturers have tried to set up a list of color charts so that capsules can be matched against them. Doctors, pharmacists and the Board of Health use this method when drug poisoning is suspected in an emergency situation.

To avoid possible confusion, patients now ask their pharmacists to clearly label the name of the drug, the dosage, and the expiration date.

Newman and Robert Redford literally live the life of two ambitious, small-town confidence men. On the fadeout, we stood to applaud.

Good ones. Bad ones. To my way of thinking, "Paper Chase" has no story. I sat through almost two hours of kids trying to get passing grades in the first year of Harvard Law School.

The study of law wracked their souls. Mine, too. If it were to be shown to senior high school classes, you might have 20 per cent college dropouts before graduation.

Peter Bogdanovich hammered a minor masterpiece in "The Last Picture Show." It depicted life in a small Texas town in somber tones, and I was engulfed by the loneliness of tumbleweed and sexual liaisons so forlorn that one thinks of dirty fingernails.

Bogdanovich filmed it in black and white or, more properly, shades of gray. In this, I feel he renounced the notion that the American motion picture is a form of fun escapism. It can be edifying; it can be art.

Some that I have seen were plotless. Properly, a story has a beginning, a middle, an end. Leaving the theater, I have heard patrons say: "Wait a minute! What happened? It ended in the middle." Some of the fast bucks are being earned on what might be called an "episode" rather than a story.

For example, in "The Paper Chase," the picture ends with the weary student getting an envelope containing his grades in law school, making a paper airplane of it and tossing it into the sea. Why did he struggle so hard? Worse, why did I have to struggle with him?

The picture industry is broken into small independent groups who beg banks for money, and who must give away big chunks of profits to distributors who control the market. Pandering to hard language and bloody scenes carries its own attrition — its own curse — within it.

The convulsion will ease. The young breed of directors will pick the stories which generate enthusiasm, will cast them with names and faces unknown to the rest of us, and movies will have a depth, a majesty comparable to "Zivago" and "Ryan's Daughter."

If you want to see something funny, go to Hong Kong and watch Gary Cooper in a Western drawing, "Draw!" in nine sing-song tones of Cantonese. Yup...

Behind Scene Workers Valuable To Production

Circleville has turned into a small Broadway during the past two weeks, as local talent is preparing for the March 28, 29 and 30 production of the 1974 High Fever Follies. A special array of songs and dance have been prepared for those who attend.

MRS. GARY DEAN and TOM CHATOM

Working behind the scenes, however, will be those talented persons who never see the footlights. Mrs. Gary Dean and Mrs. Dudley Morris have assisted providing the piano music for the dancers. They have spent many long hours at daily rehearsals helping to keep the show moving. Both women are busy mothers and piano teachers.

MRS. VINCENT DeFRANK

Costumes, for cast members, are being prepared by Mrs. Gerald Miller and Mrs. Don Greenlee. Many hours have been spent by these women fitting and matching the accessories to the many different costumes, which have been provided by Cargill Productions. Mrs. Vincent DeFrank has the task of acquiring props for the show.

Balloons, a dog and a live chicken are just a few items needed for acts in the production. A huge variety of colorful materials are needed for the Las Vegas setting.
Without publicity, the show couldn't go on. Mrs. Archie Ward, publicity chairman, has worked constantly preparing material advertising the program. Bruce Rickard and Bob Benson have assisted her in taking pictures.
Mrs. David Gillespie and Mrs. Jack Hughes have been in charge of ticket sales and have predicted a sellout for the 1974 follies.
The performance is not made up of just dancers and singers but also those working on various committees and jobs behind the scenes.

Redd Foxx To Appear At Vets Memorial

The controversial Redd Foxx, who made television history on NBC's "Sanford and Son," will bring the "Redd Foxx Show" to Columbus' Veterans Memorial on April 6, for one show only at 7 p.m.
Appearing on the all-star show will be vocalist Gerri Granger, comedian Slappy White, and all-time trumpet great Harry "Sweets" Edison, all backed by a full orchestra.
Comedian Redd Foxx's meteoric rise to stardom began with his thousands of club appearances all over the United States, Europe and Japan. The controversial nature of his material has led most producers to label his show "for adults only." It was therefore a giant step for the TV industry when NBC decided to utilize Redd Foxx for its series, "Sanford and Son".

Tickets are on sale locally at The Hamilton Store, 110 W. Main St.

Bizarre Holdup Bid Probed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police still were attempting to sort out the details and find the last suspect in a bizarre shootout—the end result of an abortive weekend robbery attempt at an eastside Indianapolis fastfood restaurant—which left a 13-year-old boy dead and another man critically wounded.
Police were looking for Lankie Lee Whisenant Sr., who left his son Lankie Lee Jr. mortally wounded in a parking lot outside the restaurant and fled.
Police said the father was apparently attempting to get to his wife in New Richmond, Ohio, after the abortive Saturday night attempt to rob 54-year-old Pete Grootendorst, the proprietor of the carry-out restaurant.

ORDINANCE NO. 27-74
AN ORDINANCE FIXING THE SALARIES OF POLICEMEN & DECLARING AN EMERGENCY
WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary to introduce an ordinance regulating the salaries of the Police Department classified personnel;
NOW THEREFORE, be it ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio:
SECTION I: That beginning the first day of January, 1974, the official pay plan of the Police Department shall be as set forth below:
Policemen: Start $384, 2 yr $502, 4 yr $600, 6 yr $688, 8 yr $766, 10 yr $844
The annual salary for Sergeants shall be nine thousand two hundred dollars.
The annual salary for the Chief shall be eleven thousand dollars.
The above yearly salaries shall be figured at forty hours per week, and all Policemen below the rank of Chief shall receive time and one half for all hours worked over forty hours per week.
Changes in rates of pay shall be made on the anniversary date of employment.
On completion of his tenth year of service each Policeman, regardless of rank, shall receive ten dollars per year of service payable on the first payday in December following the completion of such period.
SECTION II: That all salaries listed in this ordinance shall be payable semi-monthly on the first and fifteenth days of each calendar month.
SECTION III: That all portions of previous ordinances pertaining to wages of the Police Department shall hereby be rescinded.
SECTION IV: That this ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure, necessary for the preservation of public peace, health and safety of the City of Circleville, and its inhabitants, and specifically for the purpose of establishing a pay scale for the Police Department, and this ordinance shall take effect and be in force immediately from and after its passage and approval by the Mayor.
Date Passed: March 19, 1974
Joseph F. Bell
President of Council
Attest: Robert J. Shadley
Clerk of Council
APPROVED March 20, 1974
Frank E. Barnhill
Mayor
March 25, April 1

The man drove away leaving his son lying in the snow with four gunshot wounds, the boy's uncle, 42-year-old Troy Statz dazed from a fall and Grootendorst also shot four times.
They said Statz and his nephew entered the restaurant and ordered some sandwiches and coffee and while Grootendorst was preparing the food with his back to the counter, Statz drew a gun and said, "This is a stickup."
They said Statz began shooting as Grootendorst turned and that the proprietor drew a .22 caliber pistol he wore strapped to his hip and returned the fire. Grootendorst was hit in the stomach and legs and the youngster was shot in the back. No other persons were injured in the shooting.
Police said Statz grabbed Grootendorst's gun after the older man collapsed to the floor and he helped the younger Whisenant to the parking lot where his father was waiting in a car. But as they came near the waiting car, Statz slipped on the ice, fell and broke his nose.
Police said the elder Whisenant tried to help his son into the car, but saw a crowd gathering and drove away. Statz was arrested at the scene on charges of armed robbery and inflicting injury while in commission of a felony.

The younger Whisenant died en route to the hospital and Grootendorst was listed in critical condition Sunday night at Marion General Hospital here.
Police said Whisenant may have been heading for Ohio to join his wife, who has been living in a mobile home there for the past month. They said Mrs. Whisenant left Indianapolis after being accused of embezzling funds from an Indianapolis shoe store.
Police said the Whisenant family came to Indianapolis from Chicago seven months ago and had no previous record of arrests in Indiana. Statz had a minor police record in North Carolina.

Franciscan Community Meals Program Prepared To Roll

The board for the Franciscan Community Meals program held a regular monthly meeting Thursday morning at Pickaway Senior Center. Miss Mary Duvall, multi-county coordinator and Miss Angeline Hessen, head nutritionist of Good Samaritan Medical Center were also present. This is the final board meeting before the program is put into operation on April 1.

Committee reports indicated plans

FOE Auxiliary Will Donate To Cancer Society

Fraternal Order of Eagles 685 Auxiliary discussed projects during the Thursday evening meeting at the Aerie Home.

Dora Pritchard presided over the business session. Pauline Kennedy, cancer chairman, announced more donations had been turned in from both FOE and Auxiliary members with requests the money be given to the Pickaway County Cancer Society. Mrs. Kennedy will present a check for $50. to Steve Stevenson, chairman of the 1974 Cancer Crusade in Pickaway County.

Plans were discussed for a card party to be held in April to benefit the Max Baer Heart Fund and Jimmy Durante Crippled Children's Fund, under the direction of Cleo Caudill.

Mrs. Pritchard expressed appreciation to the auxiliary for making the supper for the Cancer Fund a success.

Guild 20 Officers Retain Positions

Officers of Berger Hospital Guild 20 were reelected for another year during the Tuesday evening meeting at the home of Ann Short, Jackson Twp. Attending were 15 members and two guests, Miss Pat Strous and Mrs. Forrest Short.

Remaining in office are: Annabelle Mowery, chairman; Olive Hettinger, vice chairman; Jean Thompson, secretary; and Pauline Hansen, treasurer.

A products party was held and contest winners were Pat Strous, Annabelle Mowery, Garnet Ridgeway, Ruth Croman and Ann Short.

Mystery sister names were drawn for the coming year. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Forrest Short.

Hostesses for the April meeting will be Pauline Hansen and Katherine Tadlock.

Paxton Home Site For Shower

Mrs. Sharon Acord was honored recently with a stork shower hosted by Mrs. Charlotte Paxton in her home on Marshall Road.

Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Sandy Dixon, Mrs. Pat Speakman, Mrs. Shari Beck and Mrs. Bobbi Garrett.

The honored guest opened her gifts and a social hour was enjoyed by her friends. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served.

Other guests were: Mrs. Peg Shanton and Debbie, Mrs. Pat Tait, Miss Linda Morgan, Miss Beth Ann Paxton and Miss Mary Jo Morgan.

were completed and only some final decisions regarding assigning personnel for the first week remained.

Mrs. Lorene Carroll, program coordinator for Pickaway County reported that one route will be started April 1. This can serve a maximum of 9 persons per day. The food will be prepared at Pickaway Arms Restaurant to begin with. Marty Sharrett and his staff will be given the names of the people to be served each day, along with specific details for the food needs for each person. The hot foods will be placed in a disposable foil container with a tight lid, marked with the person's name to eliminate any confusion. These trays of hot food will be placed in a pre-heated, insulated, hot box which will accommodate 9 trays of food. Cold foods, such as salads, fruits or juices, milk and dessert will be transported in paper sacks, kept in a styrofoam cooler.

The system works in this manner: 11:30 a.m. each day, Monday through Friday, two volunteers, one driver and one helper will arrive at the restaurant, get the hot box and the cooler which will be placed in the back seat of the car, and following instructions in the route book provided, they will deliver the food to those who have been accepted for the program. On Wednesdays, those delivering the meals will leave a bill for food received the previous week, together with an envelope for the money or a check. The payment will be collected by the Thursday drivers, a receipt given, and the money turned over to Mrs. Vi White, bookkeeper and treasurer for the program.

Once a month, the restaurant will bill the Franciscan program for the food provided. The packaging materials used at the restaurant are paid for and furnished by the Franciscan treasury. The cost to the client is really nominal but the intent is to keep the service within the reach, financially, of anyone who needs it.

There are no paid personnel connected with the local program. Miss Duvall's services as a consultant are free, her salary and expenses being paid by the Good Samaritan Medical Center which sponsors the meals program in eight other counties. Delivery is done by volunteers, contributing time, cars and gas.

All money needed to start the program and keep it going will be from local sources. No government funding of any sort will be accepted. The funds for the first route have been contributed by the local Kiwanis Club. Dave Gillespie of Kiwanis is a member of the Franciscan board and is the finance committee chairman.

Funds for the second route were provided by Earl Wolfe, owner of the Wolfe Construction Co. Additional funds were given by the Lion's Auxiliary. Geneva Woodward of that organization is also a board member and chairman of the restaurant committee.

As the program expands, additional funds will be needed to purchase the hot boxes and coolers and packaging materials needed. Any group or individual wishing to contribute may send checks payable to, "Franciscan Community Meals, Pickaway unit" and mail them to Mrs. Vi White, 516 Northridge Rd., Circleville. This is a tax deductible contribution and a receipt will be sent if requested.

Anyone needing the service or knowing someone who should have it should call the co-ordinator, Mrs. Lorene Carroll at 474-4647.

Black Cast Featured At Dinner Theater

An all-black cast featured in Jean Kerr's comedy "Mary, Mary" is currently playing at the Columbus-Springfield Dinner Theatre. The casting is somewhat new at the dinner theatre but the opening night audience Friday showed great appreciation for the acting proficiency of the five member cast.

Starring in the lead is Sidney Shaw who has appeared extensively at the American Shakespeare Theatre. He has also played at the La MaMa in New York and in films with Pat Paulsen and Estelle Parsons.

Carole Valentine plays the title role of Mary, Bob's (Sidney Shaw) ex-wife. The cast also includes Carole D. Arterbery as Bob's fiancée; Jai Oscar St. John as the tax lawyer and Walter Cade III as the movie star friend.

The action begins when questions arise about Bob's tax returns and his ex-wife is called to town to help with the deductions. The movie star friend drops in and much to Bob's surprise and dismay finds Mary quite beautiful.

When a snowstorm forces Mary to remain at Bob's apartment overnight, his fiancée gets the wrong idea. Always on hand to offer amusing anecdotes is the tax lawyer who is the central comedy figure of the plot.

Youth Stricken With Leg Cancer Said Doing Well

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Stephen Southerland, 13, third son of a Dade County, Fla. policeman to contract cancer, remained in satisfactory condition today.

Stephen, whose left leg was amputated because of bone cancer, is learning to walk on an artificial limb. Authorities at Children's Medical Center said the youth spends time daily standing for moments at a time.

His brother Jeffrey died at the age of four in 1969 died of lymphatic leukemia. Another brother, Michael, nine, survived surgery for a malignancy in the lining of his spinal nerve.

While the idea is still relatively new in central Ohio, the Columbus-Springfield Dinner Theatre was the first of its kind in the state.

Subscription price to be increased

Skyrocketing costs of hard-to-get newsprint and other related materials has forced The Herald to increase its subscription prices.

Effective Monday, April 1, the home-delivered subscription rate per week from a newspaper carrier or motor route driver will be 75 cents. Carriers and motor route drivers will share in the increase.

Cause of the newsprint shortage started when the federal government permitted the indiscriminate sale of western lumber to Japan. Wood pulp is used to make paper.

In addition, a number of paper mills have closed due to the fact that they cannot economically meet Environmental Protection Agency standards.

Another factor is that it was impossible to cut northern and southern timber last year due to abnormally wet weather.

The entire situation was compounded when both Canadian paper mills and the Canadian railroads went on strike. The resultant shortages and newly-signed labor contracts at the mills sent paper prices soaring.

Dean Of Horsemen Is Training 9 Pacers At Fairgrounds Oval

VETERAN CAMPAIGNER—Forrest Short, dean of the Pickaway County harness horsemen, takes Jerry MacPherson to the track for a workout. Short is training nine pacers at the local oval.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles about horsemen who are utilizing the Pickaway County Fairgrounds half-mile track and barns to train their stables of harness horses.

The Pickaway County Fairgrounds half-mile track has been a beehive of activity this spring with nearly 70 head of harness horses training there.

The veteran of the horsemen stabled at the local oval is Forrest Short who is presently training nine head for the coming season.

Short will campaign primarily at Scioto Downs and on the county fair circuit this summer.

John Fissell of Circleville owns two pacers in Short's string of harness horses. They are Roundtown, a 9-year-old campaigner with a record of 2:04, and Round The Town, a 3-year-old gelding.

George A. Fissell is the owner of Sugar Lang, a 4-year-old pacer that has a record of 2:06.

Forrest and his brother Harry Short own two of the horses, Jerry MacPherson, a 3-year-old pacer with a record of 2:09, and Golden Mary, a 7-year-old mare that owns a 2:08 mark.

Royal and James Hamman of Williamsport have two pacers under Short's care. They are Onvasus, a 4-year-old that has a record of 2:07.3 and a 3-year-old mare, Countess Dream.

Dale and Donna Hounshell and Henry Barr are the owners of Four Oaks Tia, a 4-year-old mare with a record of 2:05.4.

Rounding out the stable is Soaky, a 2-year-old filly pacer owned by Mrs. Barbara Garrett, Ashville.

N.C. State Faces Marquette Cagers

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Norman Sloan of North Carolina State and Al McGuire of Marquette, two basketball coaches who believe strongly in love, were down to the final game of the season tonight as their teams met for the NCAA championship.

"This team is made up of men who truly love one another — that's why it has been a winner," said Sloan, 47-year-old Indiana native who played in the backcourt at N.C. State 25 years ago under legendary Everett Case.

Sloan said the family feeling generated by his players toward each other and their coaches has made them a team.

Des Moines Rounds Out IHL Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Des Moines Capitals lost their last game of the regular season Sunday night to round out their year at the top of the South Division of the International Hockey League with a 45-25-6 record.

Ray Germaine tallied three assists to lead the Port Huron Wings to the 5-1 victory over Des Moines, giving the Wings a 29-44-3 season record for fifth place in the IHL North.

Also going to the Turner Cup play-offs with Des Moines is the Flint Generals, which closed out the regular season with a 7-6 loss to the Fort Wayne Komets.

Jay Tranbow scored a pair of goals for Fort Wayne, but the defending IHL champion Komets missed out on a wild card slot in the play-offs by a single point.

In Dayton, the Gems defeated the Columbus Owls, 7-5, but Columbus edged Dayton out of second place in the South division by three points.

In Toledo, Muskegon's Burt Scott scored three goals to power his team to a 5-2 victory over Toledo.

Mrs. Allison Choate of Rye, N. Y., will be nonplaying captain of the 1974 U. S. Curtis Cup team. The Aug. 2 and 3 tests against British women will be played at the San Francisco Golf Club.

State Cage Champs Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rick Apke searched for words to describe the feeling of playing on two straight Ohio high school basketball championship teams.

"It's just unbelievable. So many people doubted us. They facetiously asked if we could come back here again this year," said the slender senior Saturday night after leading Elder to a 60-54 title victory over snake-bitten Canton McKinley.

Apke scored 18 points and Bill Earley, the only other regular back from last year, hit 16, keeping

McKinley titleless in seven championship game attempts.

Akron Manchester, behind record-shattering Mike Phillips, walloped Columbus Hartley 72-52 for the Class AA title and Lorain Clearview edged Pittsburg Franklin-Monroe 74-69 for the Class A crown.

Before leading his players in prayer afterward, Elder Coach Paul Frey told his Panthers why they were the seventh big school in Ohio history to win back-to-back titles.

"I told you all during the year the one primary reason you would get back here," Frey said. "It's the thing you all have inside of you."

Dave Grote, a 1973 Elder superstar now playing at the University of Michigan, joined in the celebration in the jubilant Panthers' dressing room.

"This year I could enjoy it," he shouted. "I went wild this year, but I still had the same chill as last time. At Elder you're playing for the whole community. In college you're only playing for a few friends."

Apke credited much of Elder's success to its booming support from its students, 1,600 boys. The Panther backers again rocked St. John Arena with their cheering.

"It's the best cheering and enthusiasm in the whole country," Apke said. "They psyche us up and rattle the opposition."

Frey's team was ranked only 16th in the state during the season, but beat seven teams in the top 20, climaxed by the victory of No. 1 McKinley.

It didn't bother Frey. "I hope we never get a call. I'd rather be an underdog. You can sneak up on people and motivate your players better," he said.

The defeat, McKinley's first in 26 games this season, was a bitter one for Bob Rupert. And the Bulldog mentor said he was irked at hearing about McKinley's hex.

"I wish people would play down our bridesmaid role," he said. "These kids never have been bridesmaids before."

Frank Ridley hit 20 points for McKinley, but he was the only double figure scorer as Elder wound up its 23-3 season.

Mike Phillips, Manchester's 6-foot-11 senior, was the individual standout of the three-day classic at Ohio State.

"He's simply a nightmare," Manchester Coach Bernie Conley said after Phillips' 38-point, 22-rebound performance that wiped out six Class AA state tournament marks.

Ohio's alltime career scorer with 2,573 points, Phillips broke three field goal records with 22 in the title game and 34 for the tournament. His point totals of 38 in the finale and 64 for the two games set three more marks.

Second-ranked Manchester closed out a 26-0 season with its first state title. Hartley, led by Mike Gilliland's 25 points, finished at 20-5.

"We have some good basketball teams in Northeastern Ohio," Conley said. "They're underestimating our talent. We're not knocking anybody, though."

Phillips has narrowed his college choice to 11 schools and will start visiting campuses. Ohio State and North Carolina State have been prominently mentioned for him.

Larry Harris, Lorain's 6-foot-7 superstar who scored 65 points in two state tournament victories, said his list of colleges is down to five. Clearview backers say the graceful Harris, who can play anywhere on the floor, leans toward Ohio State.

"I'd rather keep it confidential right now," Harris said with a big grin after scoring 30 points to give Clearview a 24-2 mark. Franklin-Monroe, paced by Mike Cross' 28 points, wound up at 25-4.

Purdue Wins NIT; Tops Utah

NEW YORK (AP) — "We suddenly came all unglued," said Coach Bill Foster Sunday after Purdue had defeated his Utah team 87-81 to win the National Invitation Tournament.

"It seems like all of a sudden for about eight minutes of the second half we got careless and didn't seem to be able to grab a rebound."

While Utah was mired in mistakes and foul trouble, it was Purdue's bench strength which was providing game-winning opportunities.

"We've had a strong bench all year," said Purdue Coach Fred Schaus after Sunday's victory. "But when Jerry Nichols got hurt in the Hawaii game, I started to get worried about the flexibility of our bench, and being able to substitute freely."

"I guess I needn't have worried."

Boston College won the consolation game from Jacksonville 87-77 as Mark Raterink and Will Morrison each scored 24 points.

Both teams had crises which tested their benches. Tyrone Medley, the Utes' second-leading scorer going into final game, fouled out with 13:01 remaining in the game after tallying only six points, while Chas Menatti, their starting forward, got four fouls late in the first half, and spent the early part of the second half on the bench.

"We went into the locker room at halftime leading in the score, leading in shooting and rebounding," said Foster. "But we were also leading in fouling. And when Medley fouled out after Menatti got into trouble, we were really hurt."

Purdue seemed to be in trouble when center John Garrett picked up his fourth foul with 12:42 remaining. But Tom Scheffler came in and not only scored two baskets, one of which tied the score 62-62, but also helped put a damper on Mike Sojourner, who was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Another key player in the Purdue second-half comeback was Bruce Parkinson, whose four points in less than a minute late in the game put Purdue ahead to stay 76-72 lead.

Garrett and Frank Kendrick finished as the high scorers for Purdue, which after finishing third in the Big Ten, came to New York and completed its season with a 21-9 mark. Kendrick has 25 points, while Garrett finished with 24.

Sojourner and Burden, who finished as the tourney's high scorer with 118 points, were the big guns for Utah. Sojourner finished with 23 points and 19 rebounds, while Burden had 27.

Burden scored 18 in the first half when the Utes, true to Foster's pre-game promise, came out running and scored three quick baskets.

Purdue's victory climaxed a week that had begun with the defeat of top-seeded North Carolina, and Purdue then beat Hawaii and Jacksonville to reach the finals.

Utah, which finished tied for second place in the Western Athletic Conference, defeated Rutgers, Memphis State and Boston College before losing to the Boilermakers. The Utes set a NIT record with 392 points in four games.

Sunday's Madison Square Garden crowd of 13,246 brought total attendance for the tournament to 113,489, an average of 14,186 per night.

Lakers Grab Pacific Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles Lakers' Coach Bill Sharman voiced his feelings about his team Sunday night after his players bombed the Buffalo Braves 150-124 and clinched the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division title.

"I consider this a remarkable achievement by the players because of the injuries and the makeshift lineup we used all year," Sharman said.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Boston Celtics trimmed the Houston Rockets 109-106 in overtime; the Capital Bullets crushed the Atlanta Hawks 120-92; the Cleveland Cavaliers surprised the New York Knicks 114-92; the Phoenix Suns dropped the Golden State Warriors 134-121; the Milwaukee Bucks downed the Portland Trail Blazers 120-110, and the Chicago Bulls topped the Seattle SuperSonics 122-113.

Sharman had taken a team with a new center, Elmore Smith, extensive injuries to Jerry West, Bill Bridges and Happy Hairston, and forged the cohesiveness that led to clinching first place Sunday night.

in the NBA Saturday night, it was Boston 108, Houston 105; Kansas City-Omaha 107, New York 106; Atlanta 119, Capital 108, overtime; Philadelphia 97, Detroit 89, and Seattle 139, Golden State 137.

American Basketball Association results Sunday: Indiana Pacers 101, Utah Stars 89; Kentucky Colonels 122, San Diego Conquistadors 111; New York Nets 99, San Antonio Spurs 97; Memphis Tams 104, Virginia Squires 94, and Denver Rockets 109, Carolina Cougars 107.

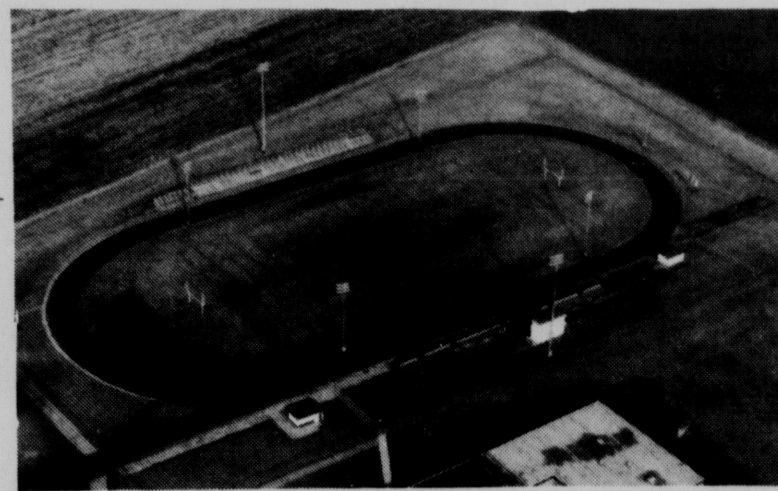

In the ABA Saturday, it was New York 112, Denver 100; Kentucky 101, Carolina 97; Memphis 106, Utah 101, and Virginia 109, San Diego 101.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FORT TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Do you sense something "different" about certain situations? Trends ARE changing, and there's more to come. Face them realistically, for they will bring excellent advantages.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 21): Venus, auspicious, now stimulates your imagination and creative talents. Progress and enduring reward indicated through properly challenged efforts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Don't be impulsive but be ready to take quick action where necessary. Recognize the difference between wasteful haste and well-directed efforts.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Financial and occupational interests will need more than usual attention, but give it and you will be highly pleased with the results.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Your individualistic touch, a special word at the right moment could mean the difference between a so-so day and a top-flight one. Many opportunities for advancement indicated.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Take part in constructive enterprises only. Avoid misdirected effort. There are many benefits for the selective taking. Especially favored: scientific and technological interests.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Fine stellar influences. Put out feelers to gain new perspective, a broadened viewpoint, a variety of opinions. You should accomplish much now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A little more restraint may be needed to improve your chances for gain now. Don't rush into things. Plan and prepare well. Pick your target and aim for dead center.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You can make a colorful showing if you stress good judgment and discretion — two of your best traits. Avoid haste, carelessness, going to extremes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Concentrate on substantial and pertinent matters. Avoid activities which interfere with obligations. A good idea from an unexpected source could prove extremely helpful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Excellent planetary influences! Trigger all action to blend with the top offerings of the day and add finesse to make things run as smoothly as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A bit of reflection needed. You may find that some of your goals are not as praiseworthy as they seem on the surface.

YOU BORN TODAY have a keen, quick mind, are extremely perceptive to the needs of others. You are intuitive, idealistic and are endowed with many talents; could succeed in art or literature especially, but could also make a name for yourself in the business world, in science, the law or statesmanship — depending on your leanings and education. See Improved Gas Flow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tourist industry officials are keeping their fingers crossed that the lifting of the Arab oil embargo will mean an upswing in travel.
"There's a feeling that people can plan at least limited vacations this summer," said Ken Miller, president of the Idaho Automobile Association. He said reports from gasoline dealers "are the most optimistic we've had for several months."

Officials noted that the oil will take several months to flow through the pipeline to the United States in the wake of last Monday's announcement that the embargo was over.

But they indicated that things won't be as bad as they were during January and February. An Associated Press survey showed that more gasoline stations were open over the weekend than on any Sunday since early December when President Nixon urged voluntary closings to conserve energy.

Nixon said last Tuesday that he was lifting that ban and Federal Energy Chief William E. Simon said tourism was a major reason for the action.

Simon said on Sunday that the sales ban "has had a significant impact on our conservation ... but we have an industry that's critical to many of the states and that is tourism and leisure industry and this is a way to safely assist them."

He said that although the United States still doesn't have enough gasoline to meet the demand, April allocations would be "significantly larger" than the March allotments.

Simon, who was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said specific allotments would be announced later this week. But he added that the states probably would get about 90 per cent of the amount they received in 1972 — up 5 per cent from this month.

Tourist officials expressed hope that business would improve.

Hippies Ousted By Malaysian Authorities

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Authorities today rounded up 94 persons they described as hippies and ordered them deported. At least 17 were Americans.

They said 45 already have left Malaysia and the rest, now in prison in northwestern Penang, will leave within the next day or two.

Immigration officials said Penang residents were complaining about scantily dressed or even naked hippies on the beaches.

Home Affairs Minister Ghazali Shafie said deportation of the 94 was part of the government effort to keep this Moslem country free of bad influences.

Public Employees Measure Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bipartisan bill requiring that layoffs of public employees be based on seniority comes up for a vote tonight in the Ohio House.

The Senate-approved measure is one of three on the House calendar at an 8 p.m. floor session opening this week's legislative activities.

Senators return at the same hour to consider a pair of bills, including one to increase utility assessments for operation of the Public Utilities Commission.

Speaker A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, and Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, the Senate majority leader, called the lawmakers back a day early this week in a bid to finish work on several major pieces of legislation prior to a month's recess April 4.

Campaign financing reforms and some sort of legislation to help relieve the energy crunch were the top priorities listed by the speaker. Gun control, abortion, no fault auto insurance, and no fault divorce—among others—also are pending at various stages.

The campaign financing bill, which passed the House last Wednesday 83-10, went back to the Senate for consideration of extensive House changes.

There was no indication when the measure will be brought up for consideration, but Gray said the Senate wants "to take a close look at the mechanics" in the complicated measure.

A joint subcommittee headed by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, is studying the energy situation and a bill to create a new energy agency. The panel meets Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The lawmakers face their busiest week of committee activity this year. The House scheduled 21 meetings to consider 57 bills while the Senate slated 13 sessions to hear 48 measures.

A subcommittee of the Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance, and Elections Committee meets Thursday to resume deliberations on House-approved no fault auto insurance.

The full committee, headed by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, will consider the same day a resolution asking the attorney general to conclude the state's suit against Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus.

In the legal action, the state is challenging whether the big non-profit research organization is meeting charitable obligations set forth in the will of the founder.

Arab Ministers Review Move To End Golan Heights Trouble

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Arab foreign ministers begin meetings in Tunis today to review efforts by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt to stop the Arab-Israeli shooting on the Golan Heights.

Tunisian Foreign Minister Habib Chatti, chairman of the Arab League meeting, said the ministers would also discuss a wide range of economic issues. They will discuss the conference between the Arab states and the European Common Market planned for the end of the year, and the special United Nations Assembly on raw material problems opening in New York April 8.

Several Arab governments, notably Libya and Iraq, were expected to be represented by their ambassadors to Tunisia instead of their foreign ministers, demonstrating their disapproval of Sadat's efforts to achieve a political settlement with Israel.

But the Egyptian president continued to encourage Syrian President Hafez Assad to accept a disengagement agreement with Israel.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said Sadat and Kissinger were continuing secret contacts on this subject during the American's visit to Moscow this week. Arab sources said they expected Kissinger to ask the Soviet leaders to join in pressing Assad for a disengagement agreement.

The sources said Assad personally favors such a move but has run into vigorous objections from radical members of his government. Egyptian Defense Minister Ahmed Ismail Ali will visit Damascus later this week to strengthen Assad's hand, the sources added.

Heavy-Duty Tags Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will issue motorists heavy metal license plates, designed to last as long as five years, beginning in 1975, a spokesman for the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles says.

Jim Garry said the planned tags will save the state between $2 million and $2.5 million a year in production costs.

Vehicle owners will be required to get new validation stickers each year for the heavier plates, Garry said.

The multiyear plates were mandated by the legislature last year. Garry said the multiyear plates will have scarlet numerals on an off-white background. The safety motto, "seat Belts Fastened?" will be dropped.

No increase is planned in the cost of the plates, Garry said.

GAO Completing Audit Of Ohio GOP Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An audit of the Ohio Republican Party Finance Committee will be completed soon by the U.S. General Accounting Office.

GAO sources said several county GOP committees did not comply with all of the new federal rules on campaign spending. The sources would not say which counties.

Meanwhile, a Justice Department spokesman said a GAO report on the Ohio Democratic Party is being studied for possible criminal action. The GAO report indicated some questionable fund raising activities within the party.

The GAO, an arm of Congress, is responsible for auditing political campaign committees. Possible illegal activities are referred to the U.S. Justice Department.

Tony Boyle Trial Gets Under Way

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle walked slowly into a heavily guarded courtroom today to stand trial on charges he ordered the 1969 assassination of union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski.

The proceedings began precisely at 10 a.m. with 35 prospective jurors waiting to be interviewed by opposing counsel and Common Pleas Court Judge Francis Catania.

A total of 350 prospective jurors were summoned. The others waited in other courtrooms to be interviewed later.

The 72-year-old Boyle, flown here Sunday from the Springfield, Mo., federal prison hospital where he is serving three years for illegal use of union funds, is charged by the state with three counts of murder.

Thin and pale, and flanked by federal marshals, Boyle broke into a thin smile and waved as he spotted his wife, Ethel, and daughter, Antoinette, sitting in the third row of the high-ceiled courtroom. He was dressed in a loosely fitting blue, pin-stripe suit.

Yablonski, his wife, Margaret, and daughter, Charlotte, were shot by hired killers before dawn on Dec. 31, 1969, as they slept in their secluded southwestern Pennsylvania home in Clarksville.

Boyle's lawyers attempted to delay the trial, claiming the indictment charging conspiracy and murder was defective. They carried their fight to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, which quashed the appeal on Friday after 43 minutes of oral argument. It is expected it will take Special Prosecutor Richard A. Sprague and chief defense lawyer Charles F. Moses a week to select a jury, and then another three weeks to present testimony in the courtroom of Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Catania.

More than 100 prosecution witnesses are ready to testify against the ailing Boyle who is still suffering the effects of a sleeping pill suicide attempt last September, three weeks after he was formally charged with the Yablonski murders.

During the trial Boyle will be confined, under guard, at the nearby Riddle Memorial Hospital.

The government alleges the murder

conspiracy was hatched in Boyle's fancy Washington, D.C., office on June 23, 1969, when he was battling Yablonski for the presidency, that the killers were paid out of $20,000 embezzled from the union treasury, and that it eventually involved a total of nine persons — eight of whom already have confessed or been convicted.

Boyle's union victory was overturned by a federal judge in May 1972 on grounds it was achieved by fraud. Then Boyle was convicted of illegally contributing $49,250 in UMW funds to political candidates. Finally, he lost the presidency to an ex-miner running on the Yablonski platform.

The trial was shifted to Media from Washington County after Boyle's lawyers said their client couldn't get a fair trial in the coal region where Yablonski lived and worked.

Ashville Church Schedules Revival

Revival services will be held 7:30 nightly March 31 through April 5, at Village United Methodist Church, corner Gay and Powell Sts., Ashville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Curt Davis, nationally known organist, soloist, radio and television artists, will present the music each evening, and the Rev. John W. Glick, pastor of the church, will be evangelist. Nursery service will be provided.

Kissinger Opens Talks With Red Party Chief

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today opened talks with Leonid I. Brezhnev, and the Communist party chief said he was optimistic about prospects for another Soviet-American agreement to limit nuclear arms.

Kissinger hoped during his three days of talks in the Kremlin to set the stage of a new nuclear weapons treaty President Nixon could sign on a visit to Moscow next summer.

Asked by newsmen if he expected to reach another arms agreement with Nixon then, Brezhnev replied: "I take an optimistic view of that. We have made a very good beginning on that process."

He said relations between the two superpowers "are good" but "there is much work to do at this time."

Asked to characterize the situation with regard to East-West detente, he said the European security conference in Geneva is "dragging its feet a little" because "the opponents of detente are introducing petty matters that have no bearing on detente."

Although he was speaking of the Geneva conference, it was assumed that he was referring to the Soviet government's problems with the U. S. Congress over trade and Jewish emigration as well as to the Western demand at the security conference for freer flow of peoples and ideas. The principal question the American secretary of state and the Soviet Communist party chief faced was how to work out a deal limiting development of missiles carrying multiple warheads (MIRV).

The groundwork was laid in early February when Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko visited Washington, and in talks with the Soviet Ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, who accompanied Kissinger from Washington and worked with him aboard the secretary's Air Force jet.

Dobrynin at one point in the flight beamingly assured reporters he had high hopes for a breakthrough. Senior American officials were more guarded, but they encouraged speculation that Kissinger's trip would be a success.

Both sides were going to try to make

"a conceptual breakthrough," said one of the officials.

For four weeks American and Soviet negotiators in Geneva have been clearing away technical underbrush. Differences between the State and Defense Departments on how to approach the Russians in this second round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) were resolved weeks ago, an official said. But Kissinger will submit whatever can be worked out here to the National Security Council after he returns to Washington at the end of the week.

His second major topic in Moscow is the Middle East.

Kissinger hopes to get the Russians to influence the Syrian government to accept a disengagement agreement with Israel providing for an initial Israeli withdrawal considerably short of Syria's long-range goal: return of all of the Golan Heights territory Israel captured during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

A Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement is necessary for resumption of the Arab-Israeli peace talks in Geneva, and there Syria and the other

Arab states could press their demands under the watchful eye of the Soviet Union, the co-chairman of the talks.

Kissinger is to meet in Washington Friday and Saturday with Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, who is to represent his government in the disengagement negotiations with the Syrians in Washington. The Syrian negotiating team arrives in Washington April 10.

Kissinger probably also brought to Moscow special pleadings for individual Jews who have been blocked from emigrating to Israel. But U.S. officials cautioned that he may not be able to accomplish much in terms of numbers. They pointed out that nearly 35,000 Jews were allowed to emigrate in 1973 and said that seems to be about as high as the Soviets are willing to go.

Other subjects to be discussed are the East-West talks in Vienna on a mutual reduction of military forces in Central Europe and the security conference in Geneva in which the Soviets are seeking Western recognition of their hegemony in Eastern Europe.

Congress Studies Plan To Block Integration Busing Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antibusing legislation, backed by President Nixon in an education speech Saturday, seemed headed for House passage this week.

Public financing of election campaigns was expected to share the congressional spotlight, with debate slated in the Senate.

The new effort to curb busing for school desegregation purposes will be made when the House starts voting on a federal aid to education bill.

The measure provides for a three-year, $18-million extension of aid to elementary and secondary schools, with the formula for distribution of the money in dispute.

The move to curb school busing drew backing from President Nixon Saturday in a radio broadcast.

Nixon termed the House bill "an important first step" in meeting his educational goals and urged citizen support for administration-backed programs to consolidate federal education grants.

"You understand better than any federal official what is best for your children," Nixon said.

The House has proposed consolidating seven grant programs into two, a move supported by the administration.

Nixon said parents value neighborhood schools and are "naturally concerned when the courts, acting on the basis of complicated plans drawn up by far-away officials in Washington, D.C., order children bused out of their neighborhoods."

The antibusing amendment, similar to a bill passed by the House in 1972 but killed in a Senate filibuster, makes busing a last resort to be used only after other desegregation measures have failed.

Nixon also called for Congress to provide $1.3 billion to finance basic education opportunity grants for schooling beyond high school.

The grant program would provide up to $1,400 a year to needy students. It was authorized in 1973 but never funded.

Senate debate will center on a sweeping campaign reform bill with provisions for using tax funds to finance presidential and congressional election races.

First, however, the Senate is expected to act on a bill authorizing a $2.7-billion, three-year extension of a cancer research program.

Final action also may be taken before the end of the week on a bill to increase the minimum wage in three steps from $1.60 an hour to $2.30.

Except for its public financing provisions, the campaign reform bill is substantially the same as one the Senate passed last July but on which the House has taken no action.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unfolding story of the milk-fund affair has turned up new irregularities in the 1972 campaign finances of several Democrats, including Rep. Wilbur D. Mills and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Associated Milk Producers Inc., the nation's largest dairy cooperative, paid $137,000 in corporation funds to help buy costly computer-mail lists for Humphrey, Sen. James Abourezk of South Dakota, Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas, Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma, and the Iowa Democratic party of Sen. Harold Hughes.

A Watergate grand jury has heard testimony about the payments. Federal law prohibits use of corporation funds to assist campaigns.

And the giant dairy cooperative reportedly used company funds to pay salaries and expenses, including

Boy Dies; Fire Hero

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A 10-year-old boy carried his brother to safety from a fire in their home Sunday, then dashed back inside the house, fire officials said. He died in the smoke-filled residence.

The Mecca Township coroner said Timothy Blessing died of suffocation in the smoke.

Fire department Sgt. William Bebech said the Blessings awoke to the fire about 8 a.m. Sunday. They rushed outside, with Timothy carrying six-month-old Sean.

"It was cold," Bebech said. "We had about six inches of snow on the ground from last night, and all we can figure is he ran back inside to put some clothes on."

Five other members of the John Blessing family were unharmed, officials said. Cause of the fire, which destroyed the home, was under investigation Sunday.

The President to turn over the subpoenaed material.

The White House, meanwhile, has denied a published report that it would give to the House impeachment inquiry tapes of 42 presidential conversations the committee has been trying to obtain. The report appeared in the Los Angeles Times, but Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said no decision had been made to provide additional tapes to the committee.

In other Watergate-related developments:

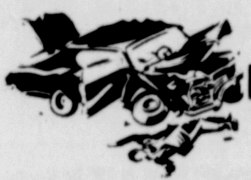

—A report obtained from court records indicated the nation's largest dairy cooperative gave financial support to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., in his 1972 presidential bid. The report showed the funds came from Associated Milk Producers Inc. Mills said he was unaware that corporate funds were used, which is illegal.

—A source close to the investigation said congressional investigators doubt that a key document which could solve President Nixon's single biggest tax problem "ever existed." The source said the White House has been unable to find the original deed giving the national archives a collection of Nixon's papers valued at $576,000. Nixon has claimed tax deductions for much of the amount. Frank DeMarco, a Nixon tax lawyer, said the original deed was destroyed.

Youth Dies In Hit-Skip Accident

An eighth-grade McDowell Exchange Student was killed, while riding his bicycle, in a hit-skip accident on State Route 159 approximately 8:35 p.m. Saturday.

5 Dead In 1974

David Wayne Duffey, 15, Route 1, Kingston, died of massive head injuries, according to County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll. It is Pickaway County's fifth fatality for 1974.

The youth, found 10:58 a.m. Sunday, was visiting a friend Saturday evening when he left to go home around 8:30 p.m. According to a witness, who was travelling north on Route 159 saw the boy riding his bike south on Route 159, stating he had a headlight and reflectors which were visible for a distance.

The witness stated he passed only two vehicles travelling south on Route 159 at the time of the death.

Reported missing around 1 a.m. Sunday to the sheriff's department, friends and family began a search for the boy. Dick Huggins, a member of the organized search parties found the boy, along the road, partially covered by snow.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Hoover arrived first on the scene with Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson assisting with the investigation. The Bureau of Criminal Investigation was contacted to assist Sheriff Radcliff with the investigation.

Due to weather conditions, the bicycle has not been found.

Born Oct. 11, 1958 in Wheeling, W. Va., he was the son of Harry and Violet Bonem Duffey.

His father preceded him in death. Survivors include his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graves; two brothers, Roger Lee Duffey and Roy Gene Duffey, both of the home; grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Jane Travis, Bellaire; step-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Graves, Route 1, Kingston.

The funeral service will be 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston, with the Rev. Ralph Uth officiating.

Burial will be in the Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Kingston. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 6 p.m. Monday.

School Funds Shared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 614 city, exempted village and local school districts shared $42.2 million in March, state Auditor Joseph Ferguson reported today.

Urge End To Controls

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The president of Republic Steel Corp. called for an end to price controls on the steel industry today to permit steelmakers to meet the nation's needs.

Arkansas Democrat announced himself as an active presidential candidate. The payments are outlined in a report commissioned by the cooperative's board, which was obtained from court records.

According to officials of the Minneapolis computer-mail firm of Valentine, Sherman and Associates, the milk producers paid:

—$50,000 for a list of rural Iowans. The Iowa Democratic party, which requested the list, paid $10,000. Sen. Hughes said he and state party officials didn't know the money was from company funds.

He said the cooperative offered to help pay for the list after he declined an offer of a contribution to his unannounced presidential campaign.

—$7,000 for a list for Abourezk, who was then running for the Senate seat he holds now. Abourezk paid $13,000. He said he hadn't been told the milk producers used corporate money, and would have refused it if he had known.

—$30,000 for a list requested by Gov. Docking of Kansas. The state party failed to pay its half, and the list wasn't completed. Docking's Press Secretary James C. Shaffer said Sunday night the governor would have no comment.

—$25,000 for a list sought by Gov. Hall of Oklahoma. This project also was abandoned after the state party failed to pay its share. Hall could not be reached immediately for comment.

—$25,000 for lists for Humphrey's 1972 presidential primary campaigns in Maryland and Florida. The Minnesota Democrat said through a spokesman he could shed no light on the payment. Humphrey referred newsmen to his former campaign manager, Minneapolis lawyer Jack Chestnut, who also said he didn't know about the $25,000.

Associated Milk Producers is the same group under investigation, with two other dairy cooperatives, for allegedly trying to pay $300,000 to a Nixon fund raiser to have an antitrust suit killed.

After the milk producers paid for all the lists, the Valentine, Sherman firm falsified correspondence and invoices covering the transactions. The firm says the forgery was the coop's idea, but the milk producers blame the computermail outfit.

Coop officials originally claimed they wanted to share costs of the lists so they could have access to them for possible future use in case they entered the insurance business, according to a report to the board by lawyer Edward L. Wright, a former American Bar Association president. This might have established a legitimate business purpose for the corporate payments.

But the coop never dealt in insurance and never used the computer lists, Wright reported.

The Wright report also says the cooperative paid the $750 monthly salary of Mrs. Betty Clement Bullock, who worked at the Mills headquarters in Little Rock, helped promote a Mills appearance at an Iowa farm rally, and later worked at the Mills headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Also paid by the milk producers was Joe P. Johnson, who was an advance man for Mills. His salary wasn't specified.

The report didn't estimate the total salaries paid for Mills' work. But it said the coop paid a total of $5,411 in rent on the Washington apartments for Johnson and Mrs. Bullock, for their leased furniture, and for a lump sum settlement to end the rental arrangement at the end of January 1972. Mills announced his active candidacy Feb. 11, 1972, after months of saying that he was merely available for a draft.

Nixon Subpoena Time Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the request of the White House, special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski today gave President Nixon four more days to respond to a subpoena demanding additional Watergate evidence.

The subpoena, issued March 15, called for a response today.

But, over the weekend James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, asked Jaworski for more time and the prosecutor extended the return date to Friday.

In a brief statement, Jaworski's office said, "In agreeing to the White House request, Mr. Jaworski emphasized the grand jury's need for the material covered under this subpoena."

The prosecutor's office refused to give details about the material subpoenaed.

And, in a related matter, lawyers for two former White House aides said they will not go to the Supreme Court to try to block transmission of the secret grand jury report on President Nixon's Watergate role to the House impeachment inquiry.

"We've just decided that we've stated our objections and our warnings as forcefully as we can and the government has decided to take the risk," said John Bray, who represents Gordon C. Strachan.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The recent upswing in short-term interest rates kept the stock market off balance today, nudging prices lower in quiet trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 6.10 at 872.03 and losers outstripped gainers by better than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts say rising interest rates represent generally a double blow to stock prices: They tend to inhibit economic growth, and they increase the attractiveness of fixed-income investments in comparison with stocks.

The American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .56 at 98.48.

The Amex volume leader was Sanitas Service, unchanged at 7 1/2, trading for the first time since last Wednesday. Late last week the company said it had a one-month extension on a loan agreement.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 51.74, down .29.

Sugar Firm Sale Brings $110 Million

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The signing of purchase agreements for the sale of the Great Western Sugar Co. to the Great Western Producers Cooperative for $110.5 million has been announced by company officials.

The sale includes Northern Ohio Sugar Co., a subsidiary of Great Western Sugar with plants in Fremont and Findlay, Ohio.

The sale and financing agreement was announced in a joint statement by officials of the cooperative and the sugar company's parent firm, Great Western United.

The sale will affect about 700 sugar beet growers in northwest Ohio and southeast Michigan and about 6,000 growers in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas.

A joint statement by Robert R. Owen, president of the cooperative, and Robert G. Everett, president of GWU, said the purchase agreements "anticipate a sale not later than Oct. 1, 1974."

The sale has been pending for more than two years, but has been delayed by financing and legal problems, the officers said.

The statement said the sale involves $58.5 million dollars at the time of closing, based on the amount of stockholders' equity, and $52 million in first mortgage financing.

The cooperative on Saturday made a $500,000 down payment, the statement said. The sugar company agreed to pay any increase in its net worth above the $58.5 million to GWU before the sale closing.

The statement said GWU will receive an additional $15 million in cash, with the remainder of the $58 million in "subordinated capital debt." That will include $15 million in capital notes and $28 million in subordinated debentures.

Steel Pinch Now Likely To Continue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel customers' hopes for an easing of the tight steel supply situation are all but gone for the rest of 1974, Industry Week said today.

Raw steel production is being limited by a shortage of coking coal and the soaring price of steel-making scrap, the business weekly said.

The development has caused steel manufacturers to revise estimates that the industry would turn out 152 million tons of raw steel this year. Now steel makers hope they'll be able to match last year's record production of 150.4 million tons, the magazine reported.

Up to now, raw steel production has been running 300,000 tons ahead of last year's pace.

But Bethlehem Steel Corp. has announced it will lose one million tons of production at Lackawanna, N.Y., and Sparrows Point, Md., because of the metallurgical coal shortage.

Also, the walkout of 27,000 miners in West Virginia in recent weeks cost a two per cent drop in production over the week before, the magazine said.

Photographs Of Mercury Still Small

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10 scientists are waiting for images of Mercury to grow larger in pictures sent back to earth by the space probe which is hurtling ever closer to the tiny planet.

Another 36 photographs were clicked off by the spacecraft's powerful television cameras Sunday and relayed to the control center at Jet Propulsion Laboratories here.

However, the photographic images were still too small to answer any questions about the nature of this innermost planet of the solar system. Mercury has remained a mystery because it is obscured by the sun and thus difficult to observe from earth.

A JPL spokesman said investigators had been looking at markings, in particular a bright spot, which appeared in the photos and seemed to be associated with features on the surface of the tiny planet.

But he added that none of the scientists was willing to speculate what the markings indicated.

Another 36 photos were to be transmitted by Mariner today as it hurtled to within 2.2 million miles of Mercury. It is scheduled to skim past the planet Friday less than 600 miles above the surface, giving man his first close-up look.

Last month Mariner made a fly-by of Venus and took more than 3,500 pictures of the cloudcovered planet.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,

A properly run ambulance service is a great responsibility. The improper and haphazard moving and transportation of an injured patient can cause further injury and even death. That is why our trained attendants evaluate the patient's obvious injuries before moving him, in order to render necessary first aid and provide the correct method of transportation to the hospital.

The meeting was concluded by playing two Bible games and refreshments.

Trailer Falls From Train

A freak accident occurred at the Norfolk and Western Railroad S. Scioto St. crossing 3:40 p.m. Saturday when a trailer, loaded with toys, rolled from a flatbed-car on a westbound train.

The trailer broke loose about 200 feet east of the crossing and dropped to the ground on its rightside.

It struck the south railroad flasher, breaking it. The trailer then skidded into a utility pole, breaking it off, and slid into a signal case, breaking the cement base.

Dear Friends,

A properly run ambulance service is a great responsibility. The improper and haphazard moving and transportation of an injured patient can cause further injury and even death. That is why our trained attendants evaluate the patient's obvious injuries before moving him, in order to render necessary first aid and provide the correct method of transportation to the hospital.

Vietnam Vets Honored On March 29

President Nixon has proclaimed March 29 as Vietnam Veterans Day throughout the United States.

According to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, the proclamation is in keeping with the joint resolution of Congress signed last month by the President in recognition of the 6.5 million Vietnam era veterans who have served their country with distinction, including the approximately 950 in Pickaway County.

"When he signed the proclamation on February 27 at the White House," the local Service Officer said, "the President emphasized that his future goal is to build a structure of peace in which all people in the world will be able to avoid a future war, large or small."

"In accordance with the proclamation," Shea continued, "I pledge that the Pickaway County Veterans Service Office, and its staff, will continue as in the past, to provide the best of service and advice to veterans of the Vietnam era and to their dependents concerning all V.A., state and local, benefits to which they may be entitled."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He Enjoys Christmas

DEAR ABBY: For the past two years, my husband and I and our little son have been spending the Christmas holidays with my family.

On Christmas morning everyone gathers in the living room and we all open our Christmas gifts under the tree. Everyone, except my husband. He refuses to open his presents at that time. He takes them home, still gift wrapped, and opens one or two a week. It takes months before they're all opened. He says if he spreads the excitement over a long period of time he enjoys it more than opening 15 or 20 gifts in an hour and then experiencing a big letdown. He prefers to prolong the joys of Christmas as long as possible.

I think it's rude to make people wait months to be thanked for a Christmas gift. He says they are his gifts and he can open them whenever he feels like it. What do you think of this weirdo?

NEW MEXICO WIFE
DEAR WIFE: His behavior is somewhat strange, but he's right, they're his gifts to open whenever he feels like it. By now your family must be accustomed to this peculiarity. But it might comfort you to know that there's at least one more "weirdo" who likes to prolong the joys of Christmas. Read on.

DEAR ABBY: There is a nut who lives across the street from us who still has his Christmas ornaments up! People come from all over just to drive by his house and laugh.

It's not just a decorated tree out front either. He's got Santa and the reindeers on the roof, and his whole front porch and lawn are decorated with every kind of Christmas ornament you can imagine.

Wouldn't you think by this time he'd take that silly looking stuff down?

Print this, he might take the hint.

DISGUSTED IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR ABBY: I don't mean to harp, but I was bothered by one of your readers references to being "gypped", and by the use of that word in the headline of your column.

It's a common but probably unintentional slur, for most people are unaware that the expression "gypped" comes from the word gypsy.

I am not a gypsy, but because of the connection between these two words, I am offended. Can't we stop using the expression as a synonym for cheat?

Aborigines A Puzzle

Over the years the aborigines of Australia have often been the butt of jokes. Now they are the objects of scientific investigation. It seems they possess some physical characteristics the rest of the world would like to have, but no one knows exactly what they are.

What started it all was the discovery that aborigines are able to sleep in the open in freezing temperatures almost naked and not mind it in the least. Science still hasn't figured out why the aborigine has greater resistance to cold, but it has discovered a number of other interesting facts about him.

Researchers from many parts of the world have been going to the Australian wilds in increasing numbers to study such things as why the aborigine stands on one foot while resting.

To date, scientists who have come to the aborigine's home from the United States, Norway, France, Germany and the civilized parts of Australia have not uncovered his secret for a healthy life. They all acknowledge his difference, but why and how have not been satisfactorily answered.

Support For Nixon?

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There must have been tears of gratitude in President Nixon's eyes when he heard of that great tribute to him from his friend, Sen. James L. Buckley, the New York Conservative-Republican. Visions of a marbled Nixon monument, hard by those that perpetuate the memories of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln in the nation's capital, must have swum in his fertile history-conscious imagination.

Buckley asked the President to get lost. Go. Scram. Ausgang. Git.

But in the most remarkable terms: "I propose an extraordinary act of statesmanship and courage — an act at once noble and heartbreaking; at once serving the greater interests of the nation, the institution of the Presidency and the stated goals for which he so successfully campaigned."

Buckley also spoke of what a "free, positive and magnanimous act" it would be for the President to chuck his $250,000 a year job, all those nice receptions, the White House air force and limousines, free rent, gas, heat, electricity and Christmas tree.

The President should say something equally moving about Sen. Buckley. Such as, "After you, Jim . . ."

I will put up my Edsel for sale, rather than yield to the federal government's probable ruling that cars must be equipped with an air bag. As of now, the ruling is confined to all cars, on and after September 1, 1976, but you know how the feds are. They'll insist that everything that rolls during the glorious Bicentennial — including steam rollers — must have the bags.

The only time I ever rode in a car wherein a bag was installed, somewhere invisibly under that part of the dash which confronted me, I was scared stiff. Every time we hit a bump, I expected that great bag of gas to burst forward and engulf me in its folds — like a nightmare about fighting a 200-ton octopus. The bag would have only hit me, the person riding shotgun — in the seat beside the driver — it would not have protected the fellow driving the infernal combustion machine. And don't forget about the old lady, giving directions from the back seat. How would she be protected — by an ejection seat? (Wouldn't be a bad idea, at times.) And how many spontaneous inflammations would take place each minute on the 6,000 miles of ruts in New York City alone?

Bag Humbug!

Watergate is farthest from the minds of one group of officials in Washington these days. The sole concern among these public servants is whether love will bloom this spring between Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing, the pair of pandas Chou En-lai sent to the National Zoo in the wake of President Nixon's trip to China in 1972. According to the UPI, 6,000,000 people visited their zoological home last year, and presumably are just as eager to see the pandas multiply. No panda pup has ever been born in captivity.

Nobody in panda court circles seems more fascinated by the potential mating than Mrs. Billie Hamlet, public relations director of the zoo. Mrs. Hamlet told UPI's Dan Riker, "It looks very good. Both animals are very healthy. There's been a great deal of interaction between them . . . the two like each other but we're going to put them this time (there was mismatch last fall) in an outdoor yard where there will be a place for either to get away if it sometimes gets rough . . . But we don't think anything more will happen than a lovers' spat."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In regard to the proposed annexation of approximately 133 acres to the village of Ashville, I wish to stand opposed to the annexation.

For the last ten years the village has been able to control and manage the community through council, so we are now 20 years behind current times. The village cannot or does not do anything to clean or clear the present streets of snow and ice in the winter.

We have had three developments in the last five years. They have either not been finished or have created water problems or are eye sores in the community.

We had no water problems in the north end until the village brought in a development with no plans or control as to the building. It cut off water drainage to the south, so for the last two years the north end has been a holding pond for surface water.

From approximately the Fleet Wing Service Station north the village has no sanitary or storm sewer. If these were tied in, the sewage plant would be working at approximately 75 per cent of its capacity. So with 176 homes and a shopping center and five apartment buildings this would mean another sewage plant in five years. We are still paying for the present one.

We feel the village cannot take care of what it has without adding more to the town.

Dear Editor:

This is a letter for registration. Do yourself a favor. Register to vote at a time when the national economy is taking a nose-dive . . . at a time when oil companies are "ripping off" virtually every American citizen, directly or indirectly . . . at a time when millions of school children have been victimized by Nixon's vetoes of education bills . . . at a time when certain Congressmen thumb their noses at the unemployed and underemployed by upholding Nixon's vetoes of manpower and accelerated wedding.

Taxpayers are being quite difficult about instructing the Internal Revenue Service to place one dollar of their paid tax (two bucks in join returns) into a special fund to cover the costs of the next Presidential election campaign. The Dollar Checkoff Committee, composed of bi-partisan members of Congress, has announced that only about 14 per cent of the taxpayers have given a damn about the effort to make Presidential elections honest.

That's very naughty on the part of the taxpayers. If they remain that stubborn in the future, where's a poor President going to find an Ambassador?

public works legislation which could have created nearly a half million jobs at a period of high unemployment . . . at a time when your neighbors and friends can help decide on who will make the decisions that will directly effect the quality of your lives.

Don't throw the opportunity away. The deadline for voter registration is April 8th.

Your vote is your voice and it counts. Special board of election hours for registration are: March 29, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; March 30, 9 a.m. to noon; April 6, 9 a.m. to noon; April 8, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The board of elections is located in the basement of the courthouse, room 22 at the rear. Use the back door for Saturday and late evening registration.

Policeman Impartial

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP) — Police specialist William Cales expected an enjoyable day Friday.

But an assignment to pick up some neon light bulbs couldn't have turned out worse.

As he approached a stop at a red light in town, the bulbs went flying off the seat. He tried to stop them from breaking, but instead he didn't brake in time.

He hit the car ahead of him, authorities say. So, what does a police officer at the scene of an accident do? He cites himself for "failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead."

Of course, it all happened in the newest of the department's fleet, a 1974 cruiser with 2,500 miles on the odometer. And, on his birthday.

Bishop Retires After Conviction

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Roman Catholic Bishop Robert E. Tracy has retired as head of the Diocese of Baton Rouge a week after being fined on drunk driving charges.

Bishop Tracy, 64, was not present Thursday at the announcement of his retirement. Church officials refused to say whether the bishop's recent arrest and fine of $150 had anything to do with his departure.

Bishop Tracy was arrested by state police Feb. 20 and booked on charges of resisting arrest and driving while intoxicated. He refused to take a breath test — which could cost him his driver's license.

Scali Backs Nixon On Mid East Alert

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — John Scali, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, says President Nixon acted wisely when he ordered a military alert at the outbreak of last year's Mideast War.

"As one who sat near the hot seat, I can assure you that in my view, if he (Nixon) had not ordered that high readiness, it would have been irresponsible in a moment of crisis," Scali said.

Scali spoke at Malone College Friday.

"Just think, only last week this time we were sloshing through the ice and snow to draw out your life's savings!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

There is a history of cystic fibrosis in our family. There were two cases in 20 years in a rather large family.

I am contemplating marriage and I am concerned about frightening my fiancée. We look forward to having children.

Mr. G.N., Ind.

Dear Mr. N.:

It is true that cystic fibrosis has a hereditary tendency. It must be emphasized, however, that the gene that carries the lung-damaging disease of cystic fibrosis must exist in both parents rather than in just one.

When only one parent has the recessive gene of cystic fibrosis none of the children will have the disease. Yet these children, free of the disease, may be carriers of the tendency.

For this reason it is most important for families with a history of cystic fibrosis to have this included very explicitly in all their medical records.

Prior to 20 years ago, a child born with cystic fibrosis had little or no chance of surviving past childhood. Due to expanded research, tests for earlier diagnosis, intensive treatment with antibiotics, and inhalation treatments now hold promise that these patients will survive, and even flourish into adulthood.

Silver Screen

Motion pictures are getting better and worse. It's an art form in transition. The big, imposing studios I knew so well in Hollywood — Metro, Fox, Paramount, Columbia — have decayed with the big men who made them. The star system, a device for foisting poor work on the public through the use of big names in the cast, is comatose.

Death and rust claimed most of them. We are left with John Wayne, whose pigeon-toes walk, saddlebag face and nasal utterances seem like someone doing a second-rate impersonation of John Wayne. Some, like Doris Day, wear high turtlenecks to do dog food commercials. Gable, Gilbert, Monroe, Jolson, Bogart, Harlow, Tyrone Power, Spencer Tracy, Ronald Colman have walked into their last sunset.

Most of them are resurrected after 11 p.m. on television, to be returned to the sepulcher of film cans by 1 a.m. When the current convulsion of sex and violence subsides, the age of the director will emerge.

Producers seldom make pictures. They manage bankrolls and settle disputes. A triad of director, writer and cinematographer assumes the day-to-day responsibility for making a great motion picture of a whimpering apology.

The current fetish for sex and violence is the fault of the public. They bought it because they yearned to be shocked. At first, only the very young paid to see these pictures in the passion pits at the drive-ins. Now their grandparents pay $3 a head to hear four-letter words they had forgotten, and to see attractive young couples go to bed for any reason except to sleep.

The problem with selling flesh is that, like heroin addiction, last year's dose is no longer sufficient. It must always be more explicit, more brutally candid. Next year they may be making love hanging from King Kong's nether parts.

I liked "Serpico," the story of an honest, hippie cop fighting crooks in a police department. It may be the only movie ever made with two words of dialogue. You could peel the script off a men's room wall.

Count me as one who loved "A Touch of Class." Kelly and I saw it three times and we laughed so hard that, in the dark, people glared at us. It is a sexy picture, but a funny and very human document.

"The Sting" excites my envy. It's the picture I wish I had written. Paul offer a great deal of hope in reducing many kinds of hereditary diseases. Specially trained scientists devote themselves to genetic counseling for those who suspect any hereditary medical problem in their family background.

Can a doctor or a pharmacist recognize all pills by their color and shape?

Miss L.R., N.C.

Dear Miss R.:

Thousands of different kinds of pills and capsules are manufactured by dozens of manufacturers. It is, therefore, virtually impossible for anyone to definitely identify every pill on sight.

Some of the more widely used ones are identifiable by distinct color or shape, but this is not a reliable method when an urgent need arises to recognize a particular drug.

Manufacturers have tried to set up a list of color charts so that capsules can be matched against them. Doctors, pharmacists and the Board of Health use this method when drug poisoning is suspected in an emergency situation.

To avoid possible confusion, patients now ask their pharmacists to clearly label the name of the drug, the dosage, and the expiration date.

Newman and Robert Redford literally live the life of two ambitious, small-town confidence men. On the fadeout, we stood to applaud.

Good ones. Bad ones. To my way of thinking, "Paper Chase" has no story. I sat through almost two hours of kids trying to get passing grades in the first year of Harvard Law School.

The study of law wracked their souls. Mine, too. If it were to be shown to senior high school classes, you might have 20 per cent college dropouts before graduation.

Peter Bogdanovich hammered a minor masterpiece in "The Last Picture Show." It depicted life in a small Texas town in somber tones, and I was engulfed by the loneliness of tumbleweed and sexual liaisons so forlorn that one thinks of dirty fingernails.

Bogdanovich filmed it in black and white or, more properly, shades of gray. In this, I feel he renounced the notion that the American motion picture is a form of fun escapism. It can be edifying; it can be art.

Some that I have seen were plotless. Properly, a story has a beginning, a middle, an end. Leaving the theater, I have heard patrons say: "Wait a minute! What happened? It ended in the middle." Some of the fast bucks are being earned on what might be called an "episode" rather than a story.

For example, in "The Paper Chase," the picture ends with the weary student getting an envelope containing his grades in law school, making a paper airplane of it and tossing it into the sea. Why did he struggle so hard? Worse, why did I have to struggle with him?

The picture industry is broken into small independent groups who beg banks for money, and who must give away big chunks of profits to distributors who control the market. Pandering to hard language and bloody scenes carries its own attrition — its own curse — within it.

The convulsion will ease. The young breed of directors will pick the stories which generate enthusiasm, will cast them with names and faces unknown to the rest of us, and movies will have a depth, a majesty comparable to "Zivago" and "Ryan's Daughter."

If you want to see something funny, go to Hong Kong and watch Gary Cooper in a Western drawing, "Draw!" in nine sing-song tones of Cantonese. Yup. . .

Behind Scene Workers Valuable To Production

Circleville has turned into a small Broadway during the past two weeks, as local talent is preparing for the March 28, 29 and 30 production of the 1974 High Fever Follies. A special array of songs and dance have been prepared for those who attend.

MRS. GARY DEAN and TOM CHATOM

Working behind the scenes, however, will be those talented persons who never see the footlights.

Mrs. Gary Dean and Mrs. Dudley Morris have assisted providing the piano music for the dancers. They have spent many long hours at daily rehearsals helping to keep the show moving. Both women are busy mothers and piano teachers.

MRS. VINCENT DeFRANK

Costumes, for cast members, are being prepared by Mrs. Gerald Miller and Mrs. Don Greenlee. Many hours have been spent by these women fitting and matching the accessories to the many different costumes, which have been provided by Cargill Productions.

Mrs. Vincent DeFrank has the task of acquiring props for the show.

Balloons, a dog and a live chicken are just a few items needed for acts in the production. A huge variety of colorful materials are needed for the Las Vegas setting.

Without publicity, the show couldn't go on. Mrs. Archie Ward, publicity chairman, has worked constantly preparing material advertising the program. Bruce Rickard and Bob Bensonhaver have assisted her in taking pictures.

Mrs. David Gillespie and Mrs. Jack Hughes have been in charge of ticket sales and have predicted a sellout for the 1974 follies.

The performance is not made up of just dancers and singers but also those working on various committees and jobs behind the scenes.

Redd Foxx To Appear At Vets Memorial

The controversial Redd Foxx, who made television history on NBC's "Sanford and Son," will bring the "Redd Foxx Show" to Columbus' Veterans Memorial on April 6, for one show only at 7 p.m.

Appearing on the all-star show will be vocalist Gerri Granger, comedian Slappy White, and all-time trumpet great Harry "Sweets" Edison, all backed by a full orchestra.

Comedian Redd Foxx's meteoric rise to stardom began with his thousands of club appearances all over the United States, Europe and Japan. The controversial nature of his material has led most producers to label his show "for adults only." It was therefore a giant step for the TV industry when NBC decided to utilize Redd Foxx for its series, "Sanford and Son".

Tickets are on sale locally at The Hamilton Store, 110 W. Main St.

Bizarre Holdup Bid Probed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police still were attempting to sort out the details and find the last suspect in a bizarre shootout—the end result of an abortive weekend robbery attempt at an eastside Indianapolis fastfood restaurant—which left a 13-year-old boy dead and another man critically wounded.

Police were looking for Lankie Lee Whisenant Sr., who left his son Lankie Lee Jr. mortally wounded in a parking lot outside the restaurant and fled.

Police said the father was apparently attempting to get to his wife in New Richmond, Ohio, after the abortive Saturday night attempt to rob 54-year-old Pete Grootendorst, the proprietor of the carry-out restaurant.

The man drove away leaving his son lying in the snow with four gunshot wounds, the boy's uncle, 42-year-old Troy Statz dazed from a fall and Grootendorst also shot four times.

They said Statz and his nephew entered the restaurant and ordered some sandwiches and coffee and while Grootendorst was preparing the food with his back to the counter, Statz drew a gun and said, "This is a stickup."

They said Statz began shooting as Grootendorst turned and that the proprietor drew a .22 caliber pistol he wore strapped to his hip and returned the fire. Grootendorst was hit in the stomach and legs and the youngster was shot in the back. No other persons were injured in the shooting.

Police said Statz grabbed Grootendorst's gun after the older man collapsed to the floor and he helped the younger Whisenant to the parking lot where his father was waiting in a car. But as they came near the waiting car, Statz slipped on the ice, fell and broke his nose.

Police said the elder Whisenant tried to help his son into the car, but saw a crowd gathering and drove away. Statz was arrested at the scene on charges of armed robbery and inflicting injury while in commission of a felony.

The younger Whisenant died en route to the hospital and Grootendorst was listed in critical condition Sunday night at Marion General Hospital here.

Police said Whisenant may have been heading for Ohio to join his wife, who has been living in a mobile home there for the past month. They said Mrs. Whisenant left Indianapolis after being accused of embezzling funds from an Indianapolis shoe store.

Police said the Whisenant family came to Indianapolis from Chicago seven months ago and had no previous record of arrests in Indiana. Statz had a minor police record in North Carolina.

Franciscan Community Meals Program Prepared To Roll

The board for the Franciscan Community Meals program held a regular monthly meeting Thursday morning at Pickaway Senior Center. Miss Mary Duvall, multi-county coordinator and Miss Angeline Hessen, head nutritionist of Good Samaritan Medical Center were also present. This is the final board meeting before the program is put into operation on April 1.

Committee reports indicated plans

FOE Auxiliary Will Donate To Cancer Society

Fraternal Order of Eagles 685 Auxiliary discussed projects during the Thursday evening meeting at the Aerie Home.

Dora Pritchard presided over the business session. Pauline Kennedy, cancer chairman, announced more donations had been turned in from both FOE and Auxiliary members with requests the money be given to the Pickaway County Cancer Society. Mrs. Kennedy will present a check for $50. to Steve Stevenson, chairman of the 1974 Cancer Crusade in Pickaway County.

Plans were discussed for a card party to be held in April to benefit the Max Baer Heart Fund and Jimmy Durante Crippled Children's Fund, under the direction of Cleo Caudill.

Mrs. Pritchard expressed appreciation to the auxiliary for making the supper for the Cancer Fund a success.

Guild 20 Officers Retain Positions

Officers of Berger Hospital Guild 20 were reelected for another year during the Tuesday evening meeting at the home of Ann Short, Jackson Twp. Attending were 15 members and two guests, Miss Pat Strous and Mrs. Forrest Short.

Remaining in office are: Annabelle Mowery, chairman; Olive Hettinger, vice chairman; Jean Thompson, secretary; and Pauline Hansen, treasurer.

A products party was held and contest winners were Pat Strous, Annabelle Mowery, Garnet Ridgeway, Ruth Croman and Ann Short.

Mystery sister names were drawn for the coming year. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Forrest Short.

Hostesses for the April meeting will be Pauline Hansen and Katherine Tadlock.

Paxton Home Site For Shower

Mrs. Sharon Acord was honored recently with a stork shower hosted by Mrs. Charlotte Paxton in her home on Marshall Road.

Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Sandy Dixon, Mrs. Pat Speakman, Mrs. Shari Beck and Mrs. Bobbi Garrett.

The honored guest opened her gifts and a social hour was enjoyed by her friends. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served.

Other guests were: Mrs. Peg Shanton and Debbie, Mrs. Pat Tait, Miss Linda Morgan, Miss Beth Ann Paxton and Miss Mary Jo Morgan.

were completed and only some final decisions regarding assigning personnel for the first week remained.

Mrs. Lorene Carroll, program coordinator for Pickaway County reported that one route will be started April 1. This can serve a maximum of 9 persons per day. The food will be prepared at Pickaway Arms Restaurant to begin with. Marty Sharrett and his staff will be given the names of the people to be served each day, along with specific details for the food needs for each person. The hot foods will be placed in a disposable foil container with a tight lid, marked with the person's name to eliminate any confusion. These trays of hot food will be placed in a pre-heated, insulated, hot box which will accommodate 9 trays of food. Cold foods, such as salads, fruits or juices, milk and dessert will be transported in paper sacks, kept in a styrofoam cooler.

The system works in this manner: 11:30 a.m. each day, Monday through Friday, two volunteers, one driver and one helper will arrive at the restaurant, get the hot box and the cooler which will be placed in the back seat of the car, and following instructions in the route book provided, they will deliver the food to those who have been accepted for the program. On Wednesdays, those delivering the meals will leave a bill for food received the previous week, together with an envelope for the money or a check. The payment will be collected by the Thursday drivers, a receipt given, and the money turned over to Mrs. Vi White, bookkeeper and treasurer for the program.

Once a month, the restaurant will bill the Franciscan program for the food provided. The packaging materials used at the restaurant are paid for and furnished by the Franciscan treasury. The cost to the client is really nominal but the intent is to keep the service within the reach, financially, of anyone who needs it.

There are no paid personnel connected with the local program. Miss Duvall's services as a consultant are free, her salary and expenses being paid by the Good Samaritan Medical Center which sponsors the meals program in eight other counties. Delivery is done by volunteers, contributing time, cars and gas.

All money needed to start the program and keep it going will be from local sources. No government funding of any sort will be accepted. The funds for the first route have been contributed by the local Kiwanis Club. Dave Gillespie of Kiwanis is a member of the Franciscan board and is the finance committee chairman.

Funds for the second route were provided by Earl Wolfe, owner of the Wolfe Construction Co. Additional funds were given by the Lion's Auxiliary. Geneva Woodward of that organization is also a board member and chairman of the restaurant committee.

As the program expands, additional funds will be needed to purchase the hot boxes and coolers and packaging materials needed. Any group or individual wishing to contribute may send checks payable to, "Franciscan Community Meals, Pickaway unit" and mail them to Mrs. Vi White, 516 Northridge Rd., Circleville. This is a tax deductible contribution and a receipt will be sent if requested.

Anyone needing the service or knowing someone who should have it should call the co-ordinator, Mrs. Lorene Carroll at 474-4647.

A-C Alumni Updating Mailing List

The Amanda Clearcreek Alumni Association is undertaking the work of getting the correct mailing list of all Amanda High School and Amanda Clearcreek High School graduates.

If a graduate has changed his or her address or her name in the past five years, this information is needed.

In the Amanda area, contact the 1974 alumni president, Rex Shupe, Box 75 Amanda, or Miss Joyce Ann Kerns, Route 6, Lancaster who is recording secretary. Those in the Stoutsville area should contact either Carl Adams or Mrs. Mark Pontious, Route 1, Stoutsville, 43154, vice president and treasurer respectively.

It is possible there are those whose addresses have not changed but who still do not receive notice of the alumni banquets. These persons also should send their names to one of the above named committee members.

Many local parents and readers of this notice, who have graduates of the two schools but who are living outside the school district, can help greatly in the updating of the mailing list.

The alumni banquet for the Amanda Clearcreek High School and the Amanda School is held annually on the second Saturday evening in June, which is June 8th this year at 7 p.m.

Black Cast Featured At Dinner Theater

An all-black cast featured in Jean Kerr's comedy "Mary, Mary" is currently playing at the Columbus-Springfield Dinner Theatre. The casting is somewhat new at the dinner theatre but the opening night audience Friday showed great appreciation for the acting proficiency of the five member cast.

Starring in the lead is Sidney Shaw who has appeared extensively at the American Shakespeare Theatre. He has also played at the La MaMa in New York and in films with Pat Paulsen and Estelle Parsons.

Carole Valentine plays the title role of Mary, Bob's (Sidney Shaw) ex-wife. The cast also includes Carole D. Arterbery as Bob's fiancé; Jai Oscar St. John as the tax lawyer and Walter Cade III as the movie star friend.

The action begins when questions arise about Bob's tax returns and his ex-wife is called to town to help with the deductions. The movie star friend drops in and much to Bob's surprise and dismay finds Mary quite beautiful.

When a snowstorm forces Mary to remain at Bob's apartment overnight, his fiancé gets the wrong idea. Always on hand to offer amusing anecdotes is the tax lawyer who is the central comedy figure of the plot.

Subscription price to be increased

Skyrocketing costs of hard-to-get newsprint and other related materials has forced The Herald to increase its subscription prices.

Effective Monday, April 1, the home-delivered subscription rate per week from a newspaper carrier or motor route driver will be 75 cents. Carriers and motor route drivers will share in the increase.

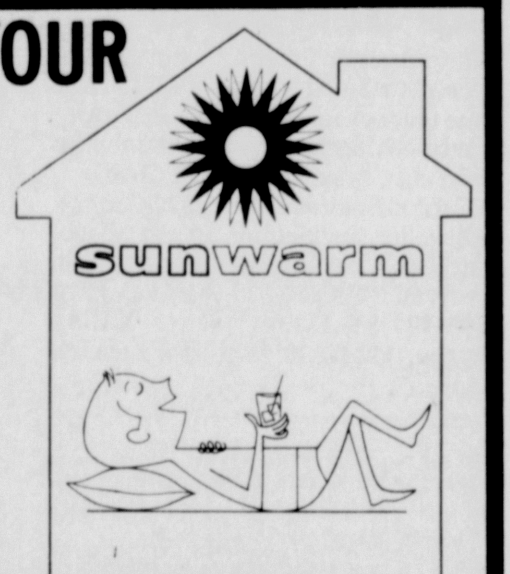

Cause of the newsprint shortage started when the federal government permitted the indiscriminate sale of western lumber to Japan. Wood pulp is used to make paper.

In addition, a number of paper mills have closed due to the fact that they cannot economically meet Environmental Protection Agency standards.

Another factor is that it was impossible to cut northern and southern timber last year due to abnormally wet weather.

The entire situation was compounded when both Canadian paper mills and the Canadian railroads went on strike. The resultant shortages and newly-signed labor contracts at the mills sent paper prices soaring.

N.C. State Faces Marquette Cagers

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Norman Sloan of North Carolina State and Al McGuire of Marquette, two basketball coaches who believe strongly in love, were down to the final game of the season tonight as their teams met for the NCAA championship.

"This team is made up of men who truly love one another — that's why it has been a winner," said Sloan, 47-year-old Indiana native who played in the backcourt at N.C. State 25 years ago under legendary Everett Case.

Sloan said the family feeling generated by his players toward each other and their coaches has made them a team.

In Toledo, Muskegon's Burt Scott scored three goals to power his team to a 5-2 victory over Toledo.

Mrs. Allison Choate of Rye, N. Y., will be nonplaying captain of the 1974 U. S. Curtis Cup team. The Aug. 2 and 3 tests against British women will be played at the San Francisco Golf Club.

David Thompson, Monte Towe, Tim Stoddard and Mark Moeller were key sophomores last year and are in their second year of play with current seniors Tom Burleson and Steve Nuce.

Sloan conceded it took a while before junior college transfers Moe Rivers and Phil Spence, new to the squad this season, fit in comfortably as members of the family.

McGuire said before Marquette began its season, "It's definitely going to depend upon if the players really love each other or just make believe and have their love affairs with the semi agents who will tout them and blow their heads out of proportion."

The N.C. State Wolfpack, No. 1 in the nation and 29-1 on the season with a 27-game winning streak, is averaging 92 points a game.

Marquette, ranked No. 3 on a 26-4 record, traditionally has been a defensive leader under McGuire, who regards his swarming defense as part of his offense.

His warriors are 104-11 for their last four seasons. In those 115 games they have yielded more than 75 points only 11 times, twice in overtime games.

Paul's Sohio Wins City Pin Tourney

Paul's Sohio, with a total of 3,191 pins, won the team events of the Circleville Bowling Association Men's City Tournament at Prairie Lanes.

Members of the winning team were: Ron Cain, 597-651; Gene Cantley, 598-682; Thurman Lambert, 516-579; Tom Davis, 536-605; and Orlando Brown, 611-674.

Mason Furniture was second with 3,046 pins and Brumfield and Tigner No. 2 rolled 3,043 for third place.

Paul's Sohio also captured the scratch series with a total of 2,858 pins. Doubles and singles events will be held next weekend at Circle "D" Lanes. Due to the large participation in the doubles and singles a shift was held Sunday.

Double leaders are Kenneth Kuhlwein and Terry Reed with a total of 1,184 pins. Kuhlwein also leads the singles event with 657 pins.

State Cage Champs Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rick Apke searched for words to describe the feeling of playing on two straight Ohio high school basketball championship teams.

"It's just unbelievable. So many people doubted us. They facetiously asked if we could come back here again this year," said the slender senior Saturday night after leading Elder to a 60-54 title victory over snake-bitten Canton McKinley.

Apke scored 18 points and Bill Earley, the only other regular back from last year, hit 16, keeping

McKinley titleless in seven championship game attempts.

Akron Manchester, behind record-shattering Mike Phillips, walloped Columbus Hartley 72-52 for the Class AA title and Lorain Clearview edged Pittsburg Franklin-Monroe 74-69 for the Class A crown.

Before leading his players in prayer afterward, Elder Coach Paul Frey told his Panthers why they were the seventh big school in Ohio history to win back-to-back titles.

"I told you all during the year the one primary reason you would get back here," Frey said. "It's the thing you all have inside of you."

Dave Grote, a 1973 Elder superstar now playing at the University of Michigan, joined in the celebration in the jubilant Panthers' dressing room.

"This year I could enjoy it," he shouted. "I went wild this year, but I still had the same chill as last time. At Elder you're playing for the whole community. In college you're only playing for a few friends."

Apke credited much of Elder's success to its booming support from its students, 1,600 boys. The Panther backers again rocked St. John Arena with their cheering.

"It's the best cheering and enthusiasm in the whole country," Apke said. "They psyche us up and rattle the opposition."

Frey's team was ranked only 16th in the state during the season, but beat seven teams in the top 20, climaxed by the victory of No. 1 McKinley.

It didn't bother Frey. "I hope we never get a call. I'd rather be an underdog. You can sneak up on people and motivate your players better," he said.

The defeat, McKinley's first in 26 games this season, was a bitter one for Bob Rupert. And the Bulldog mentor said he was irked at hearing about McKinley's hex.

"I wish people would play down our bridesmaid role," he said. "These kids never have been bridesmaids before."

Frank Ridley hit 20 points for McKinley, but he was the only double figure scorer as Elder wound up its 23-3 season.

Mike Phillips, Manchester's 6-foot-11 senior, was the individual standout of the three-day classic at Ohio State.

"He's simply a nightmare," Manchester Coach Bernie Conley said after Phillips' 38-point, 22-rebound performance that wiped out six Class AA state tournament marks.

Ohio's alltime career scorer with 2,573 points, Phillips broke three field goal records with 22 in the title game and 34 for the tournament. His point totals of 38 in the finale and 64 for the two games set three more marks.

Second-ranked Manchester closed out a 26-0 season with its first state title. Hartley, led by Mike Gilliland's 25 points, finished at 20-5.

"We have some good basketball teams in Northeastern Ohio," Conley said. "They're underestimating our talent. We're not knocking anybody, though."

Phillips has narrowed his college choice to 11 schools and will start visiting campuses. Ohio State and North Carolina State have been prominently mentioned for him.

Larry Harris, Lorain's 6-foot-7 superstar who scored 65 points in two state tournament victories, said his list of colleges is down to five. Clearview backers say the graceful Harris, who can play anywhere on the floor, leans toward Ohio State.

"I'd rather keep it confidential right now," Harris said with a big grin after scoring 30 points to give Clearview a 24-2 mark. Franklin-Monroe, paced by Mike Cross' 28 points, wound up at 25-4.

Purdue Wins NIT; Tops Utah

NEW YORK (AP) — "We suddenly came all unglued," said Coach Bill Foster Sunday after Purdue had defeated his Utah team 87-81 to win the National Invitation Tournament.

"It seems like all of a sudden for about eight minutes of the second half we got careless and didn't seem to be able to grab a rebound."

While Utah was mired in mistakes and foul trouble, it was Purdue's bench strength which was providing game-winning opportunities.

"We've had a strong bench all year," said Purdue Coach Fred Schaus after Sunday's victory. "But when Jerry Nichols got hurt in the Hawaii game, I started to get worried about the flexibility of our bench, and being able to substitute freely."

Lakers Grab Pacific Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles Lakers' Coach Bill Sharman voiced his feelings about his team Sunday night after his players bombed the Buffalo Braves 150-124 and clinched the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division title.

"I consider this a remarkable achievement by the players because of the injuries and the makeshift lineup we used all year," Sharman said.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Boston Celtics trimmed the Houston Rockets 109-106 in overtime; the Capital Bullets crushed the Atlanta Hawks 120-92; the Cleveland Cavaliers surprised the New York Knicks 114-92; the Phoenix Suns dropped the Golden State Warriors 134-121; the Milwaukee Bucks downed the Portland Trail Blazers 120-110, and the Chicago Bulls topped the Seattle SuperSonics 122-113.

Sharman had taken a team with a new center, Elmore Smith, extensive

"I guess I needn't have worried."

Boston College won the consolation game from Jacksonville 87-77 as Mark Raterink and Will Morrison each scored 24 points.

Both teams had crises which tested their benches. Tyrone Medley, the Utes' second-leading scorer going into final game, fouled out with 13:01 remaining in the game after tallying only six points, while Chas Menatti, their starting forward, got four fouls late in the first half, and spent the early part of the second half on the bench.

"We went into the locker room at halftime leading in the score, leading in shooting and rebounding," said Foster. "But we were also leading in fouling. And when Medley fouled out after Menatti got into trouble, we were injuries to Jerry West, Bill Bridges and Happy Hairston, and forged the cohesiveness that led to clinching first place Sunday night.

In the NBA Saturday night, it was Boston 108, Houston 105; Kansas City-Omaha 107, New York 106; Atlanta 119, Capital 108, overtime; Philadelphia 97, Detroit 89, and Seattle 139, Golden State 137.

American Basketball Association results Sunday: Indiana Pacers 101, Utah Stars 89; Kentucky Colonels 122, San Diego Conquistadors 111; New York Nets 99, San Antonio Spurs 97; Memphis Tams 104, Virginia Squires 94, and Denver Rockets 109, Carolina Cougars 107.

In the ABA Saturday, it was New York 112, Denver 100; Kentucky 101, Carolina 97; Memphis 106, Utah 101, and Virginia 109, San Diego 101.

really hurt."

Purdue seemed to be in trouble when center John Garrett picked up his fourth foul with 12:42 remaining. But Tom Scheffler came in and not only scored two baskets, one of which tied the score 62-62, but also helped put a damper on Mike Sojourner, who was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Another key player in the Purdue second-half comeback was Bruce Parkinson, whose four points in less than a minute late in the game put Purdue ahead to stay 76-72 lead.

Garrett and Frank Kendrick finished as the high scorers for Purdue, which after finishing third in the Big Ten, came to New York and completed its season with a 21-9 mark. Kendrick has 25 points, while Garrett finished with 24.

Sojourner and Burden, who finished as the tourney's high scorer with 118 points, were the big guns for Utah. Sojourner finished with 23 points and 19 rebounds, while Burden had 27.

Burden scored 18 in the first half when the Utes, true to Foster's pregame promise, came out running and scored three quick baskets.

Purdue's victory climaxed a week that had begun with the defeat of top-seeded North Carolina, and Purdue then beat Hawaii and Jacksonville to reach the finals.

Utah, which finished tied for second place in the Western Athletic Conference, defeated Rutgers, Memphis State and Boston College before losing to the Boilermakers. The Utes set a NIT record with 392 points in four games.

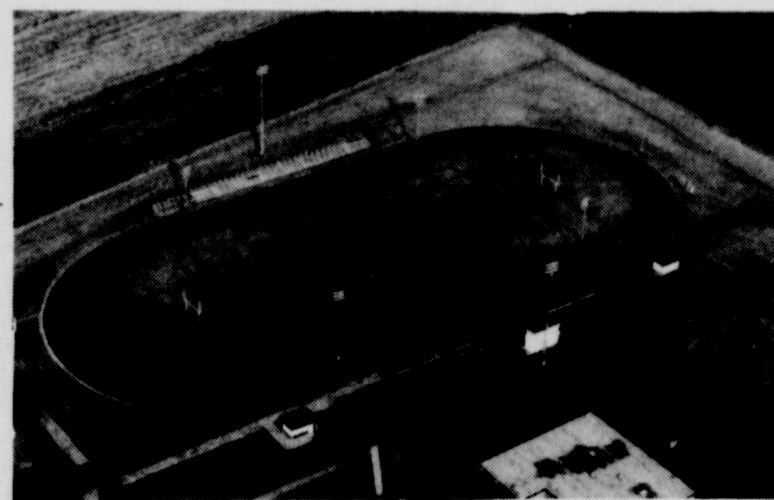

Sunday's Madison Square Garden crowd of 13,246 brought total attendance for the tournament to 113,489, an average of 14,186 per night.

See Big Year For Twins

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Manager Frank Quilici thinks the youth program of the Minnesota Twins is ready to begin paying dividends in the West Division of the American League.

The Twins are coming off a third-place finish in 1973, with uncertainties regarding Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva, but with confidence of more experience.

"We had a very young team last season," said Quilici. "Our players had to learn to play together while they were finding out if they belonged in the major leagues."

"You could see the change in our club last season. It wasn't the team in September that it was in April ... it was a lot better."

Among the youngsters Quilici is counting on are Eric Soderholm, centerfielder Steve Brye, catcher Glenn Borgmann and a group of young pitchers, including Joe Decker, 10-10, and Bill Campbell,

See Improved Gas Flow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tourist industry officials are keeping their fingers crossed that the lifting of the Arab oil embargo will mean an upswing in travel.

"There's a feeling that people can plan at least limited vacations this summer," said Ken Miller, president of the Idaho Automobile Association. He said reports from gasoline dealers "are the most optimistic we've had for several months."

Officials noted that the oil will take several months to flow through the pipeline to the United States in the wake of last Monday's announcement that the embargo was over.

But they indicated that things won't be as bad as they were during January and February. An Associated Press survey showed that more gasoline stations were open over the weekend than on any Sunday since early December when President Nixon urged voluntary closings to conserve energy.

Nixon said last Tuesday that he was lifting that ban and Federal Energy Chief William E. Simon said tourism was a major reason for the action.

Simon said on Sunday that the sales ban "has had a significant impact on our conservation ... but we have an industry that's critical to many of the states and that is tourism and leisure industry and this is a way to safely assist them."

He said that although the United States still doesn't have enough gasoline to meet the demand, April allocations would be "significantly larger" than the March allotments.

Simon, who was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said specific allotments would be announced later this week. But he added that the states probably would get about 90 per cent of the amount they received in 1972 — up 5 per cent from this month.

Tourist officials expressed hope that business would improve.

Hippies Ousted By Malaysian Authorities

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Authorities today rounded up 94 persons they described as hippies and ordered them deported. At least 17 were Americans.

They said 45 already have left Malaysia and the rest, now in prison in northwestern Penang, will leave within the next day or two.

Immigration officials said Penang residents were complaining about scantily dressed or even naked hippies on the beaches.

Home Affairs Minister Ghazali Shafie said deportation of the 94 was part of the government effort to keep this Moslem country free of bad influences.

Public Employees Measure Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bipartisan bill requiring that layoffs of public employees be based on seniority comes up for a vote tonight in the Ohio House.

The Senate-approved measure is one of three on the House calendar at an 8 p.m. floor session opening this week's legislative activities.

Senators return at the same hour to consider a pair of bills, including one to increase utility assessments for operation of the Public Utilities Commission.

Speaker A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, and Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, the Senate majority leader, called the lawmakers back a day early this week in a bid to finish work on several major pieces of legislation prior to a month's recess April 4.

Campaign financing reforms and some sort of legislation to help relieve the energy crunch were the top priorities listed by the speaker. Gun control, abortion, no fault auto insurance, and no fault divorce—among others—also are pending at various stages.

The campaign financing bill, which passed the House last Wednesday 83-10, went back to the Senate for consideration of extensive House changes.

There was no indication when the measure will be brought up for consideration, but Gray said the Senate wants "to take a close look at the mechanics" in the complicated measure.

A joint subcommittee headed by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, is studying the energy situation and a bill to create a new energy agency. The panel meets Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The lawmakers face their busiest week of committee activity this year. The House scheduled 21 meetings to consider 57 bills while the Senate slated 13 sessions to hear 48 measures.

A subcommittee of the Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance, and Elections Committee meets Thursday to resume deliberations on House-approved no fault auto insurance.

The full committee, headed by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, will consider the same day a resolution asking the attorney general to conclude the state's suit against Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus.

In the legal action, the state is challenging whether the big non-profit research organization is meeting charitable obligations set forth in the will of the founder.

Arab Ministers Review Move To End Golan Heights Trouble

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Arab foreign ministers begin meetings in Tunis today to review efforts by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt to stop the Arab-Israeli shooting on the Golan Heights.

Tunisian Foreign Minister Habib Chatti, chairman of the Arab League meeting, said the ministers would also discuss a wide range of economic issues. They will discuss the conference between the Arab states and the European Common Market planned for the end of the year, and the special United Nations Assembly on raw material problems opening in New York April 8.

Several Arab governments, notably Libya and Iraq, were expected to be represented by their ambassadors to Tunisia instead of their foreign ministers, demonstrating their disapproval of Sadat's efforts to achieve a political settlement with Israel.

But the Egyptian president continued to encourage Syrian President Hafez Assad to accept a disengagement agreement with Israel.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said Sadat and Kissinger were continuing secret contacts on this subject during the American's visit to Moscow this week. Arab sources said they expected Kissinger to ask the Soviet leaders to join in pressing Assad for a disengagement agreement.

The sources said Assad personally favors such a move but has run into vigorous objections from radical members of his government. Egyptian Defense Minister Ahmed Ismail Ali will visit Damascus later this week to strengthen Assad's hand, the sources added.

The original purpose of the Tunis meeting was to prepare for an Arab summit conference some time next month to endorse the various peace moves.

King Hassan II of Morocco invited the summit to meet in Rabat, his capital, and Sadat quickly endorsed the invitation.

Reagan Tops GOP Survey For 1976

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan is the top choice of Republican county chairmen for the party's 1976 presidential nomination, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

In a mail survey of 3,725 county chairmen, 39 per cent of the 2,384 who responded chose Reagan.

Vice President Gerald Ford had 24 per cent of their votes; former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York had 12 per cent; and former Treasury Secretary John Connally, 7 per cent.

Over the past 20 years, the views of the GOP county chairmen have prevailed in national conventions, except in 1952 when they favored Ohio Sen. Robert Taft over Dwight Eisenhower by 2-1.

Reagan also has wide support from GOP rank-and-file members. Last April, Reagan was second only to then Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. By October regular GOP members picked Reagan as their top choice.

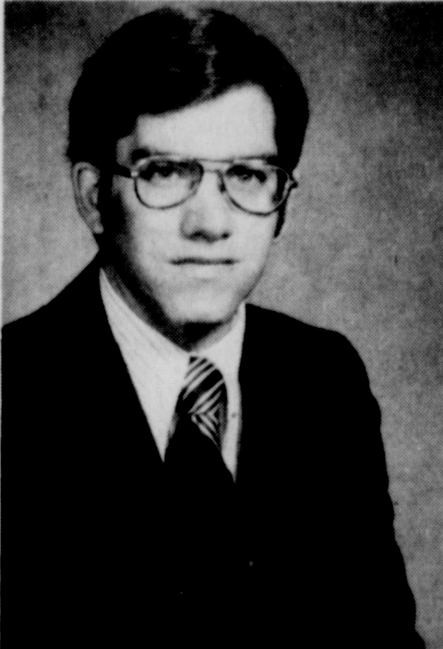

Ford's backers were asked to list a second choice for the nomination if the vice president refused to run for the presidency. Two-thirds of those who selected Ford swung to Reagan, giving him a 55 per cent rating. Without Ford in the race, Rockefeller's support rose to 15 per cent, while Connally rated 12 per cent.

In questionnaires mailed in late January and early February, the county chairmen were asked: "As of today, which one of these men do you personally prefer as the Republican candidate for president in 1976?"

The responses and percentages were: Ronald Reagan, 39; Gerald Ford, 24; Nelson Rockefeller, 12; John Connally, 7; Barry Goldwater, 6; Elliot Richardson, 4; Charles Percy, 3; and Howard Baker, 2.

Heavy-Duty Tags Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will issue motorists heavy metal license plates, designed to last as long as five years, beginning in 1975, a spokesman for the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles says.

Jim Garry said the planned tags will save the state between $2 million and $2.5 million a year in production costs. Vehicle owners will be required to get new validation stickers each year for the heavier plates, Garry said.

The multiyear plates were mandated by the legislature last year. Garry said the multiyear plates will have scarlet numerals on an off-white background. The safety motto, "seat Belts Fastened?" will be dropped.

No increase is planned in the cost of the plates, Garry said.

GAO Completing Audit Of Ohio GOP Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An audit of the Ohio Republican Party Finance Committee will be completed soon by the U.S. General Accounting Office.

GAO sources said several county GOP committees did not comply with all of the new federal rules on campaign spending. The sources would not say which counties.

Meanwhile, a Justice Department spokesman said a GAO report on the Ohio Democratic Party is being studied for possible criminal action. The GAO report indicated some questionable fund raising activities within the party.

The GAO, an arm of Congress, is responsible for auditing political campaign committees. Possible illegal activities are referred to the U.S. Justice Department.

Tony Boyle Trial Gets Under Way

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle walked slowly into a heavily guarded courtroom today to stand trial on charges he ordered the 1969 assassination of union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski.

The proceedings began precisely at 10 a.m. with 35 prospective jurors waiting to be interviewed by opposing counsel and Common Pleas Court Judge Francis Catania.

A total of 350 prospective jurors were summoned. The others waited in other courtrooms to be interviewed later.

The 72-year-old Boyle, flown here Sunday from the Springfield, Mo., federal prison hospital where he is serving three years for illegal use of union funds, is charged by the state with three counts of murder.

Thin and pale, and flanked by federal marshals, Boyle broke into a thin smile and waved as he spotted his wife, Ethel, and daughter, Antoinette, sitting in the third row of the high-ceiled courtroom. He was dressed in a loosely fitting blue, pin-stripe suit.

Yablonski, his wife, Margaret, and daughter, Charlotte, were shot by hired killers before dawn on Dec. 31, 1969, as they slept in their secluded southwestern Pennsylvania home in Clarksville.

Boyle's lawyers attempted to delay the trial, claiming the indictment charging conspiracy and murder was defective. They carried their fight to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, which quashed the appeal on Friday after 43 minutes of oral argument. It is expected it will take Special Prosecutor Richard A. Sprague and chief defense lawyer Charles F. Moses a week to select a jury, and then another three weeks to present testimony in the courtroom of Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Catania.

More than 100 prosecution witnesses are ready to testify against the ailing Boyle who is still suffering the effects of a sleeping pill suicide attempt last September, three weeks after he was formally charged with the Yablonski murders.

During the trial Boyle will be confined, under guard, at the nearby Riddle Memorial Hospital.

The government alleges the murder

conspiracy was hatched in Boyle's fancy Washington, D.C., office on June 23, 1969, when he was battling Yablonski for the presidency, that the killers were paid out of $20,000 embezzled from the union treasury, and that it eventually involved a total of nine persons — eight of whom already have confessed or been convicted.

Boyle's union victory was overturned by a federal judge in May 1972 on grounds it was achieved by fraud. Then Boyle was convicted of illegally contributing $49,250 in UMW funds to political candidates. Finally, he lost the presidency to an ex-miner running on the Yablonski platform.

The trial was shifted to Media from Washington County after Boyle's lawyers said their client couldn't get a fair trial in the coal region where Yablonski lived and worked.
